Merger Endorsec By WSU Regents

Urge Study To Resolve Rough Spots

MADISON — The state universities board of regents Friday endorsed the concept of a merger of the Wisconsin State Universities and University of Wisconsin systems as proposed last week by Gov. Patrick Lucey, and called on the governor to form a committee with representatives of both systems to iron out the problems.

On the motion of Mrs. Robert Williams, Stevens Point, the board voted unanimously to support the concept and accept the statements of Eugene McPhee, executive director of the state universities system calling for the formation of a "wrinkle" committee to iron out problems.

In a surprise statement, McPhee told the board he said 10 years ago he thought a merger was inevitable and today thinks the concept is "very good."

"I think we have to keep track of what happens to the students in this whole process of amalgamating 130,000 youngsters under one board, and the problems that that may create. On the other hand, I think that comparisons of what is going to happen to the two systems is absolutely odious, and I think the noises coming from both camps ought to quit until we've had a chance to iron out some of the apparent problems that are presented by the governor's proposal," McPhee said.

Liberated Bars Forgotten

NEW YORK (AP) — The regulars still quaff their ale in mostly male-only splendor at McSorley's and the manager at the Biltmore still answers the phone, "Men's Bar." Not much has changed in the more than six months since women invaded these bastions of masculinity.

It was June 25 when U.S. Dist. Court Judge Walter R. Mansfield ordered the 116-year-old McSorley's Ale House to let women saunter across its sawdust-covered floor to the bar. One male patron was so incensed at the court order he dumped a mug of ale over the head of a feminist customer.

"Care Less" Today, said Daniel Kirwan, manager of the bar, "nobody could care less about the women"—the few who do appear.

The bar was "a big curiosity for the first couple weeks," but then interest tapered off, Kirwan said. He estimated there had been no more than a couple hundred women customers all told since the sex barrier was broken.

The women who do arrive, said Kirwan, are "all ages and all types, generally in groups." They drink ale, beer, porter and stout, the only drinks served in the bar.

"Nobody Complained" When the court order was issued, there was talk McSorley's would have to build a ladies' room. But the rest room facilities have not been expanded and, said Kirwan, "nobody complained."

The story was the same at the Biltmore, which served its first female customer Aug. 26, during a nationwide women's strike for equality.

"Now that they can come in, they don't," the manager said when asked about women customers.

Women appear "very, very seldom," he said. "Some days we don't get any at all."

Most of the women, the manager said, are secretaries with their bosses or guests of the hotel in which the bar is located. "They all come in with men," he said.

Are there any objections from the male patrons? "Nobody pays any attention," the manager said.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant wants Israel to "give a commitment to withdraw its troops from occupied United Arab Republic territory" to comply with proposals made by Middle East peace mediator Gunnar V. Jarring.

Thant also praised Egypt Friday for a "positive reply" to peace moves by the Swedish diplomat and appealed to Israel and Egypt to maintain the Suez Canal cease-fire that is due to expire Sunday.

Nixon Vietnam Policy Rapped By Senators

Bayh, McGovern Lament War in Wisconsin Talks

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — President Nixon's Southeast Asian policy was given harsh criticism by two Democratic presidential hopefuls at a University of Wisconsin symposium Friday.

More than a year before the state's presidential primary, "We are not only devastating the people of Indochina we are literally tearing up the soul of America," Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., the only announced candidate, told a group of 4,000.

Ending the war "would permit us to begin our fund of physical and spiritual energy for rebuilding our society, rather than trying to tear down someone else's," said Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who is reportedly considering a presidential bid, told a group of 700.

"Terrible Barbarism" McGovern accused the administration of perpetuating "terrible barbarism" in Southeast Asia.

He said he could "no longer stand in the back room of the Senate simply deploring the fact our country is going to hell."

The South Dakotan told the crowd listening to advice from the President and the Joint Chiefs of Staff on Vietnam "is much like consulting Gen. Custer on how to fight the Indians."

"We are not going to make it as a society unless we change the direction of this nation," McGovern said.

He hammered on the same general theme earlier Friday when he appeared before 1,000 persons at Marquette University in Milwaukee.

"Corrupt Regime" "There is nothing about the corrupt regime in South Vietnam that justifies our staying there," he said.

At both places, McGovern proposed some "tongue-in-

Alaskan Pipeline Rapped in Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed trans-Alaska oil pipeline has suffered a new setback with disclosure of adverse comments from the Defense Department and even sharper criticism from the Army Corps of Engineers.

Both the Corps, in draft comments from its Alaska district office, and the Pentagon, in an official and milder version, pointed out they could block construction of the pipeline even if the Interior Department approves it.

The Corps' Anchorage office, in a report not intended for publication, deals harshly with an Interior Department study of the potential environmental impact of the pipeline project.

New Ammunition Engineers' criticisms that Interior's impact statement may not meet legal requirements could hand pipeline opponents new ammunition to continue legal maneuvers which already have won them a temporary court injunction against granting pipeline permits.

The Pentagon's official comments, sent to the Interior Department last Wednesday, omitted such legal judgments, but raised another potentially controversial point.

"Our experts believe that a hot-oil pipeline can be built structurally sound if the strict controls, as proposed in the document, are enforced," the Defense Department said.

Too General But the Pentagon said stipulations proposed by the Interior Department "are too general to support the positive assurances given throughout the report" that they would ensure environmental protection.

And the Pentagon agreed with the Corps district office that Interior should give more thought to possible alternatives to the pipeline for transporting oil from Alaska's North Slope.

Public Comment When vast oil fields were discovered late in 1968 in Alaska's frozen Arctic region, oil companies joined to plan construction of a 48-inch pipeline from the North Slope across 800 miles of mountains, permanently frozen earth and ice, active earthquake faults and 250 streams and rivers.

Aid Plan Includes Wisconsin Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — A revenue sharing plan that would give almost $2 billion in federal money to aid urban areas would include six urban centers in Wisconsin, it was reported Friday.

This phase of President Nixon's $16 billion revenue sharing proposal would eliminate local matching funds and lump into one program the present Model Cities, urban renewal, water sewer and rehabilitation grant programs.

Cities and their suburbs in Wisconsin which would be eligible, sources said, are Milwaukee, Madison, Racine, Kenosha, Green Bay and Superior.

George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, said exact figures for the 247 metropolitan areas to benefit from the program will be published next week.

Nixon said local governments could decide how to spend the money.

"Cities would simply be asked to indicate how they planned to use the funds and to report periodically on how the money was expended."

Romney said cities would be required to use the money for community development and could not divert the funds to build a football stadium or similar project.

Thieu Praises Units Key Laos Town Taken

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese infantrymen under an umbrella of U.S. bombers and gunships captured the key Laotian town of Sèpoune today and cut the Ho Chi Minh trail network around it, Saigon headquarters announced.

President Nguyen Van Thieu sent a congratulatory message to field units praising them for their victory, headquarters announced.

Lt. Col. Tran Van An, the chief South Vietnamese spokesman in Saigon, called a special news conference to announce what he termed a victory.

"Today on March 6 at 1 p.m.," An said, "Vietnamese armed forces units have attacked and seized Sèpoune after inflicting heavy losses to the enemy." He said 263 North Vietnamese troops were killed in and around Sèpoune today, many of them by heavy U.S. air strikes. By nightfall, he said, the North Vietnamese troops, elements of the veteran 320th Division, withdrew.

"There are no enemy in Sèpoune now," he said.

Lt. Col. Le Thung Hien told newspapermen at the rear headquarters at Dong Ha in the north that the South Vietnamese around Sèpoune uncovered major stockpiles of war materiel, including 300 tons of munitions.

Sèpoune is the hub in a network of roads on the Ho Chi Minh trail and was considered a major North Vietnamese transshipment point, although U.S. planes long since pounded it into rubble.

"We are in complete control," An said.

He claimed 536 North Vietnamese troops have been killed in two days of heavy fighting in and around Sèpoune, including 253 outside the town Friday.

South Vietnamese casualties were light he said, adding: "I don't have the numbers right now."

An said 13 of the enemy were captured.

British Troops Kill Youth in N. Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops shot dead a teen-ager and wounded four other rioters early today during a battle which swept the Roman Catholic Falls Road area of Belfast.

Security forces reported just before dawn that quiet had returned to the area and said 23 persons were arrested during the disorder. It followed a major riot in the area during the afternoon Friday.

The shooting was along Balacava Street in the district which has become a flashpoint of the political and economic strife that has plagued this British province for years.

Soldiers were called to the district shortly after midnight to down bomb-throwing mobs. Snipers of the outlawed Irish Republican Army kept bullets flying from rooftops, and five soldiers were felled by homemade bombs scattering six-inch nails.

FCC Trying to Silence Drug-Oriented Music

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission, reacting to complaints about drug-oriented music, says radio and television executives must be familiar with records their disc jockeys play.

Otherwise, the commission held in a split decision, a station's license might be in jeopardy.

"Whether a particular record depicts the dangers of drug abuse or, to the contrary, promotes such illegal drug usage, is a question for the judgement of the licensee," the FCC ruled in a decision announced Friday.

The order may provide broadcast executives a new experience in boning up on the jargon favored by many of today's recording artists.

"Don't Bogart that joint, my friend," a line from the soundtrack of "Easy Rider," is an example Bogart refers to the late actor Humphrey Bogart, a last Sept. 14 in Las Vegas, "but until it was pointed out to me, I never realized that the friends were assorted drugs."

"Joint" means a marijuana cigarette—and a marijuana smoker prefers that his companion not tarry too long over the previous weed they're sharing.

"Catchy Tune" "I get high with a little help from my friends" is from a hit by the Beatles.

"It's a catchy tune," said Vice President Spiro T. Agnew last Sept. 14 in Las Vegas, "but until it was pointed out to me, I never realized that the friends were assorted drugs."

"There are scores of other broadcasting industries will have the courage and commitment to respond to this brazen attack upon them with all the enthusiasm it calls for. Give me the power of this commission," Johnson said, "I am afraid they may not."

Johnson called the notice "an attempt by a group of establishmentarians to determine what youth can say and hear."

Scores 25 Points
Last night, before a packed house (about evenly split between Irish and Terror partisans), West's Rich Reitzner and Tim Moriarty were typically the high powered. Reitzner fired through 10 of 20 field shots — but including a fabulous eight in a row at one point — and was flawless in five foul-line opportunities, for a 25-point total.

The 6-5 Moriarty swished nine of 15 floor attempts enroute to a 19-point night and picked off 15 rebounds to spearhead West's big margin — 47 to 22 — under the boards.

Dwight Mueller hit double figures, as he sank five of eight floor tries for 10 points. Elie Chestnut added nine points and six rebounds to the AHS-W totals. Though Carl Joosten and Rick Luebben scored only three points apiece, they handled 10 and nine rebounds, respectively.

The Irish, who came into the game with four double-figure scorers on a season-long basis, produced only two consistent point-makers.

Guards Bob Garvey and John Verkuilen in the opening two minutes of tallied 13 points each. Their baskets were primarily from West's long range, as West defense went up pressure kept the Freedom shooters outside.

The Jim Harke-coached Free scored the Irish, 20 to 3, dom team wound up with a 17-4 increasing their lead to 60-31. The first nine points of the Freedom scored first in the skinn went unanswered as Moriame, on Tony Brockman's arty threw in a pivot shot and a

Cut Margin
Garvey and Verkuilen swished a pair of long shots apiece to cut the West margin to seven points (28-21), but the relentless Reitzner came back with a long bell-ringer, a rebound goal, and a 3-point play off a fast break, pass from Paul Hoffman. With Reitzner hitting 6-for-6 during the quarter, the Terrors hiked their lead to 32 (36-24).

Verkuilen, a sophomore re-serve, sparked with 4-for-4 floor shooting in the first half and was also to sink his fifth basket in the third quarter before missing.

Ann. It's worth a repeat. —
San Antonio Mother
Dear Mother: Here it is.
Thanks for asking:

1. Remember that a child is a gift from God, the sense of justice.

2. Remember that each child needs two parents.
Present a united front.
Never join with your child against your mate. This can create in your child (as well as in yourself) emotional conflicts. It can also create feelings of guilt, confusion and insecurity.

3. Do not hand your child
everything his little heart desires. Permit him to know the thrill of earning and the joy of achieving. Grant him
the greatest of satisfactions
— the pleasure that comes with personal accomplishment.

4. Do not set yourself up
as the epitome of perfection. This is a difficult role to play 24 hours a day. You will find it easier to communicate with your child if you let him know that Mom and Dad can err, too.

5. Don't make threats in anger, or impossible promises when you are in a generous mood. Threaten or promise only that which you can live up to. To a child, a parent's word means everything. The child who has lost faith in his parents has difficulty believing in anything.

6. Do not smother your child with superficial manifestations of "love." The purest and healthiest love expressed itself in day-in,

day-out training which breeds self-confidence and independence.

10. Teach your child there is dignity in hard work,
whether it is performed with calloused hands that shovel coal or skilled fingers that manipulate surgical instruments. Let him know a useful life is a blessed one and a life of ease and pleasure-seeking is empty and meaningless.

11. Do not try to protect your child against every small blow and disappointment. Adversity strengthens character and makes us compassionate. Trouble is the great equalizer. Let him learn it.

12. Teach your child to love God and to love his fellow men. Don't send your child to a place of worship
— take him there. Children learn from example. Telling him something is not teaching him. If you give your child a deep and abiding faith in God it can be his strength and his light when all else fails.

Glendale Man Bound Over in Meat Theft Case

Charges Stem From Incident at New London Firm

A 55-year-old Glendale businessman who police accuse schemed with a former New London meat packing supervisor for the theft of more than 14,000 pounds of meat products, was bound over to Circuit Court Tuesday after a preliminary hearing.

Dominic Mandella, 55, was freed on a previously posted $1,500 cash bond after the hearing. Three state's witnesses took the stand Tuesday in the examination conducted before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

County investigators charge that Mandella exchanged cash gifts and merchandise with Harold Dreier, 44, 1811 Smith St., New London, for more than 14,000 pounds of meat at reduced, falsified prices.

The offenses, they charge, took place between June of 1969 and Nov. 2, 1970. Dreier, who worked for the Quality Packing House Inc., New London, when police charge the thefts occurred, was put on two years' probation Jan. 26 Dreier had made restitution of $6,530 before probation was granted.

Green Bay Murder Case

High Court Rejects Appeal of Life Term

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Wisconsin State Supreme Court has upheld the Brown County Circuit Court conviction and sentencing to life imprisonment of Harry Hebard of Green Bay for the 1963 killing of his father, his step-mother, and three other members of his family.

The court in an opinion made public late Friday and written by Justice Robert W. Hansen denied all the points raised in the appeal from the finding of guilty by a jury and the sentencing by Judge Robert H. Gollmar of Baraboo, who presided in the Brown County circuit court at the trial.

Originally 16-year-old Hebard, a high school junior at the time, had been adjudged insane after an examination by court-appointed psychiatrists and unable to stand trial. He was committed to Central State Hospital at Waupun. But in 1967 the Brown County Court was informed that Hebard was able to stand trial and he was charged with the first degree murder by shooting of his father, Jack Hebard, 37, his wife Joyce, 35, the children of Joyce by her deceased first husband John Rudell and the twins, Judith and Janice Rudell.

Defendant Harry Hebard was the son of Jack Hebard by a previous marriage.

First Trial
Young Hebard was charged with the first degree murder of his family late in 1967 and entered pleas of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity.

On the second plea he asked for a separate trial. He also filed for a change of venue on the basis of claimed community prejudice and the motion was denied. The jury found him guilty late in 1968. A week later it found him not insane at the time of the crimes. He was sentenced to concurrent life terms in prison.

The principal issue raised in the appeal was the denial of the Hebard demand for the separation of the criminal trial into two phases, the first as to guilt, the second as to insanity, with evidence on the mental condition of the defendant admitted only on the issue of insanity.

scheduled Feb. 22, but was postponed due to the snow storm.

Justice Hansen wrote a long and technical dissertation on the point. He ruled in effect that to accept the Hebard argument would be too overturn an abundance of precedent in such legal cases.

He said that if Hebard were to be upheld, the court would be required to repudiate earlier cases on the point and re-examine the entire matter of "bifurcating" trials, and added that if the court chose to take such action "this is not the case in which it would be attempted."

Hebard also challenged the denial by the trial court of his change of venue request, which held to an extensive review by Justice Hansen of the community reaction to the crime, including publicity, and a conclusion that the denial of the venue change was proper. The court also denied challenges in the appeal of the propriety of the admissibility of some of the evidence at the trial.

The Hansen opinion for the court concluded:

"Reversal in the interest of justice requires a finding that 'it is probable there has been a miscarriage of justice.' We find no miscarriage of justice suggested, much less made probably by the record here."

Can Firms Set Up Recycling in State

MILWAUKEE — Three of the world's largest producers of steel or tin-plate cans Friday announced the establishment of five can recycling centers in four Wisconsin cities.

The state-wide program was announced by industry leaders at a press conference here in the Pflister Hotel. Industry spokesmen emphasized that the centers will accept all types of cans — steel, tin plate, aluminum and bi-metal.

Industry leaders at the press conference identified the following recycling centers in Wisconsin: Milwaukee — American Can Co., 6000 N. Tontonia Ave. and Continental Can Co., Inc., 4300 N. Port Washington Road; Racine — Continental Can Co., 1901 Chickory Rd.; La Crosse — Continental Can Co., 1501 St. James Street, and Green Bay — National Can Corp., Armour Drive.

The industry officials emphasized at the press conference that the metal conservation program launched by the producers of metal cans is another step by industry toward helping solve both the litter and the overall environmental problems of the state.

The program received the endorsement of Gov. Patrick Lucey and other state officials who joined industry officials at the press conference.

"I commend the Continental, American and National can companies for their innovative steps to recycle valuable resources which we can no longer afford to waste," Gov. Lucey said in his endorsement. "State government and industry must coordinate their efforts and share the responsibility for introducing recycling programs to the marketplace."

Dr. Brooks Becker, head of the Bureau of Solid Waste Disposal in the State Department of Natural Resources, said at the press conference that his department "endorses the advances in recycling technology made by the Continental, American and National can companies. The Department of Natural Resources is willing to coordinate its efforts with these industries to promote recycling in Wisconsin."

Under the program, each of the can companies will donate its services as a collection center for steel, tin plate, aluminum and bi-metal cans.

The scrap cans will be segregated, processed, and shipped to various locations for recycling by the primary metals industries.

Local plant managers will be responsible for developing programs to channel proceeds from the sale of the scrap back into appropriate local charitable enterprises. Payments will be made on the basis of $10 per ton

Hansen Credit Union Joins Cooperative

CLINTONVILLE — At the 12th annual meeting of the Hansen Employees Credit Union Thursday evening at the Veterans Memorial Building, it was voted to change the name to the Clintonville Cooperative Credit Union.

Otherwise it would have to liquidate as the Hansen Glove Corporation closed its operations here last summer. By amending the "Articles of Incorporation", the credit union now will be named Clintonville Cooperative Credit Union.

This action also marks the beginning of a new field of service open to cooperative employees and members, according to Miss Mildred Braun, president of the Hansen Employees Credit Union.

Two new directors were elected to increase the board to seven. They are Jenevieve Dexter and Kermit Sieber. Holdover directors are Miss Braun, Elva Frailling, Ruth Stickney, Joann Breitenfeldt and Margaret Krueger. An organizational meeting of the board will be held Monday evening.

Credit committee members are Wilma Gehrmann, chairman, Isabel Krasavage and Agnes Erdmann. Members of the audit committee were Roscelia Hartmann, chairman, Elaine Kersten and Ruth Hull.

Supervisor Charges County Hospital With Fund Padding

BY DON CASTONIA

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, renewed his charges Thursday night that Eugene Speener, Outagamie County Hospital and Golden Age Home superintendent, "deliberately loaded" the 1971 hospital and home budgets. The charges were made before the county board's rules and legislative committee.

Kloes, an unsuccessful candidate in last Tuesday's executive primary and antagonist of County Administrator Alvin Woehler, one of the successful candidates, claimed the executive's office could not be depended upon to provide help for the county board regardless of who was elected, "no matter what Woehler says."

Rebuffed Demands — Kloes contended that he has never been able to get information that he wants from Woehler and cited the county hospital's Golden Age Home budgets as an example.

Kloes said he was the only one on the finance committee last fall who tried to "dig" into the budget. But he said he was rebuffed on his demands for a complete accounting of personnel and program costs at the two institutions.

Name in Item Incorrect — NEW LONDON — Ron Roloff, who was incorrectly identified in a recent news report of his re-election as president of the Lakeland College of Lester Osterlath and Neil Etheridge.

finance committee approved transferring $8,000 from the Golden Age Home salary account to pay for structural revisions in the hospital ordered by the state.

"He (Speener) admitted he padded the budget when he said the $8,000 was available," Kloes charged.

"Anyone who believes otherwise (that the budget was deliberately padded) belongs in a mental hospital," Kloes said.

His remark brought a sharp rebuke from County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, and Supv. Harold Miller, Town of Grand Chute. Miller said he never had any trouble getting information from Woehler's office and suggested the problem might be with Kloes and not Woehler.

Speener Friday morning denied padding his budget.

Error Admitted — He said he made an error in listing the salaries of some social workers who worked only in the hospital and not in the Golden Age Home. This, he said, amounted to about $8,000.

Some employees are "shared" by the two institutions which are housed in the same building. The salaries of those employees are then charged against the budget of the individual institution according to the percentage of time spent working in each.

Speener was emphatic in saying there was no other budget error. "This (social workers) is the only staff area where this duplication could happen," he said.

Kloes' charges grew out of discussion over a proposal to create the position of "legislative secretary" to the county board.

Kloes claimed the position was necessary to obtain information on issues for board members because the county executive's office should not, and could not, be depended upon for that information.

The legislative secretary position is one change in a proposed complete overhaul of county board rules which, if adopted by the county board, would take effect with the election of the county executive in April.

Rules and legislative committee members were not in full agreement, however, on just what the duties and qualifications would be for a legislative secretary.

Most committee members envisioned the person as someone to do research and gather information for use by the committees. Others, however, also viewed that person as one to write letters for board members and take minutes at meetings.

Supv. Marvin Babbitt, Seymour, said a specific job description could be written later and that "I don't think we have to hire anyone now." He said that when the position was written into the proposed rule changes it was because it was felt the board needed a secretary.

However, Babbitt added that he thought whomever was hired "should be someone who knows something about government." He said he did not think the county board "should impose on the executive's time for research."

Supv. Ervin Conradt, Shiocton, agreed with Babbitt. "I know how I'd feel going into the governor's office and asking his secretary to take a letter for me," he said.

Man Cited For Saving Child's Life

A 22-year-old Combined Locks man received a plaque from the Fire Department Wednesday, commending him for his role in saving the life of an Appleton child last month.

Ronald E. Poleshinski, 415 Buchanan Road, Combined Locks, responded by saying he hopes Appleton citizens will save the life of the embattled Fire Department rescue squad.

Poleshinski applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to Rachel Radke, 3, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Radke, after the child was overcome by carbon monoxide fumes in the family car Feb. 23.

Rachel remains hospitalized, but is listed in satisfactory condition today at Appleton Memorial Hospital.

Credits Rescue Squad

After receiving the plaque and a letter from Mayor George Buckley commending his quick action, Poleshinski told newsmen, "The rescue squad deserves half of that plaque as far as I'm concerned."

He said they, too, responded promptly and efficiently when notified of the emergency, giving the girl oxygen and taking her to a hospital.

"I hope the taxpayers of Appleton don't let this rescue squad get pushed aside," he said.

Members of the Fire Department have mounted a campaign for public support of efforts to buy a new rescue vehicle for the squad.

Fire Chief Roland Kuehl presented the plaque and letter at the City Council meeting Wednesday.

According to the letter, Poleshinski took over when Mrs. Radke stopped her car in an Appleton service station and discovered her daughter unconscious on the back seat.

The child was turning blue before Poleshinski revived her. Her color was returning to normal by the time the rescue squad arrived, the letter states.

A study is currently under way to determine whether to buy the new vehicle for the squad, to replace an older one. Local private ambulance operators have objected that the city is competing with them for business.

Supervisors Expected to OK Jail Bonds

The near-final step in the multi-year battle over construction of new jail facilities is expected to be taken by the Outagamie County Board Tuesday.

Bids on $3.9 million in general obligation bonds will be opened at 1:30 p.m. and sale of the bonds will be submitted for approval later the same afternoon.

If the bonds are approved, as expected, the remaining steps involve the bidding for construction.

Of the $3.9 million, $2.27 million is for the jail building. The remaining $1.63 million covers courthouse remodeling, repayment of short term notes from past airport projects, the Plamann School addition, highway department office building and off-street parking at the courthouse.

A lively battle can be expected to develop earlier in the day, however, over a proposed complete revamping of county board rules to coincide with the first county executive administration.

The proposed changes are the most sweeping in county board committee structure since the executive committee concept was initiated more than eight years ago.

Competition also is expected to develop to fill the vice chairman's chair on the board. The number two post became vacant with the death of Jerome Hiler.

Thus far only Supv. Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, has publicly announced his desire for the vice chairmanship. However, he is expected to have competition on the board floor.

Interest in Job

Several other supervisors have privately expressed interest in the job and at least three names are expected to be put in nomination besides DeBruin's. Among those mentioned are G. Allen Bubolz, John Schreiter, and Herman Ripp, all of Appleton, and Harold Miller, Town of Grand Chute.

Traditionally, either the board chairman or the vice chairman, is from Kaukauna.

DeLaHunt has indicated he will appoint a successor Tuesday to fill the District 16 supervisory position vacated by Hiler's death. As of Friday, only one person had formally applied for consideration.

Other resolutions on Tuesday's agenda include the proposed agreement for transferring title and operational control of the air traffic control tower at the Outagamie County Airport to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

Transfer of $8,000 from the Golden Age Home budget to the county hospital budget for installation of new fire doors.

And, sale of a county-owned lot in the Town of Grand Chute to Steinberg and Robertson Agency Realtors for $2,750.

DNR Opposes 'Weaker' Bills

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Bills which threaten to weaken the strict, antipollution-oriented state solid waste disposal standards by putting enforcement authority in the hands of the counties are being opposed by the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The bills have been introduced apparently as the result of communities feeling the pinch in meeting the regulations which have demanded upgrading of virtually all disposal operations in Wisconsin.

Thomas Frangos, administrator of the DNR's environmental protection division, testified Thursday before the Assembly's committee on environmental protection. He warned that the bills would "cut the heart out of a program that is just beginning to bring solid waste disposal up to 20th century standards."

Similar fears were expressed today by Dr. Kenneth Gibson, Outagamie County Board supervisor and member of the county's ad hoc committee on solid waste disposal, and Lawrence Michaels, public works director of the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG).

Step Backward

Gibson called the bills a step backward in the effort that has been made so far to eliminate the pollution by dumps. He said that communities undoubtedly feel they could "get by with less than adequate standards."

Supv. Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, also an ad hoc committee member, and Ira Livingston, Town of Grand Chute chairman, said they favored the measures. Town of Menasha Chairman Roland Kamp, testified in favor of the bills.

Kampo said he felt it would save the taxpayer money with county enforcement, noting the DNR had a big budget and was planning to hire 19 more dump inspectors this year.

He also said residents could more easily contact the county than the state in complaining about improper dumping. "How can the average taxpayer know who to contact in Madison?" he asked.

District Attorneys

He said the bills would be more flexible on burning and fence requirements at landfills but would maintain the antipollution restrictions.

The bills also would establish county commissions on solid waste disposal and would require all orders relating to solid waste disposal to be enforced by county district attorneys.

The DNR is charged with promulgating regulations for sanitary landfills. Enforcement orders are carried out by the state attorney general.

"There would be a potential for 72 different standards of solid waste disposal" under county supervision, Frangos said in reference to Wisconsin's 72 counties.

Toxic Wastes

He said that eliminating the state's program could jeopardize federal aid for landfills.

Michaels said the tough state regulations should be maintained because of the size of today's pollution problem. Most dumps have been located in or near swamps, and toxic wastes dumped there tend to quietly seep into the groundwater, showing up in someone's well years later.

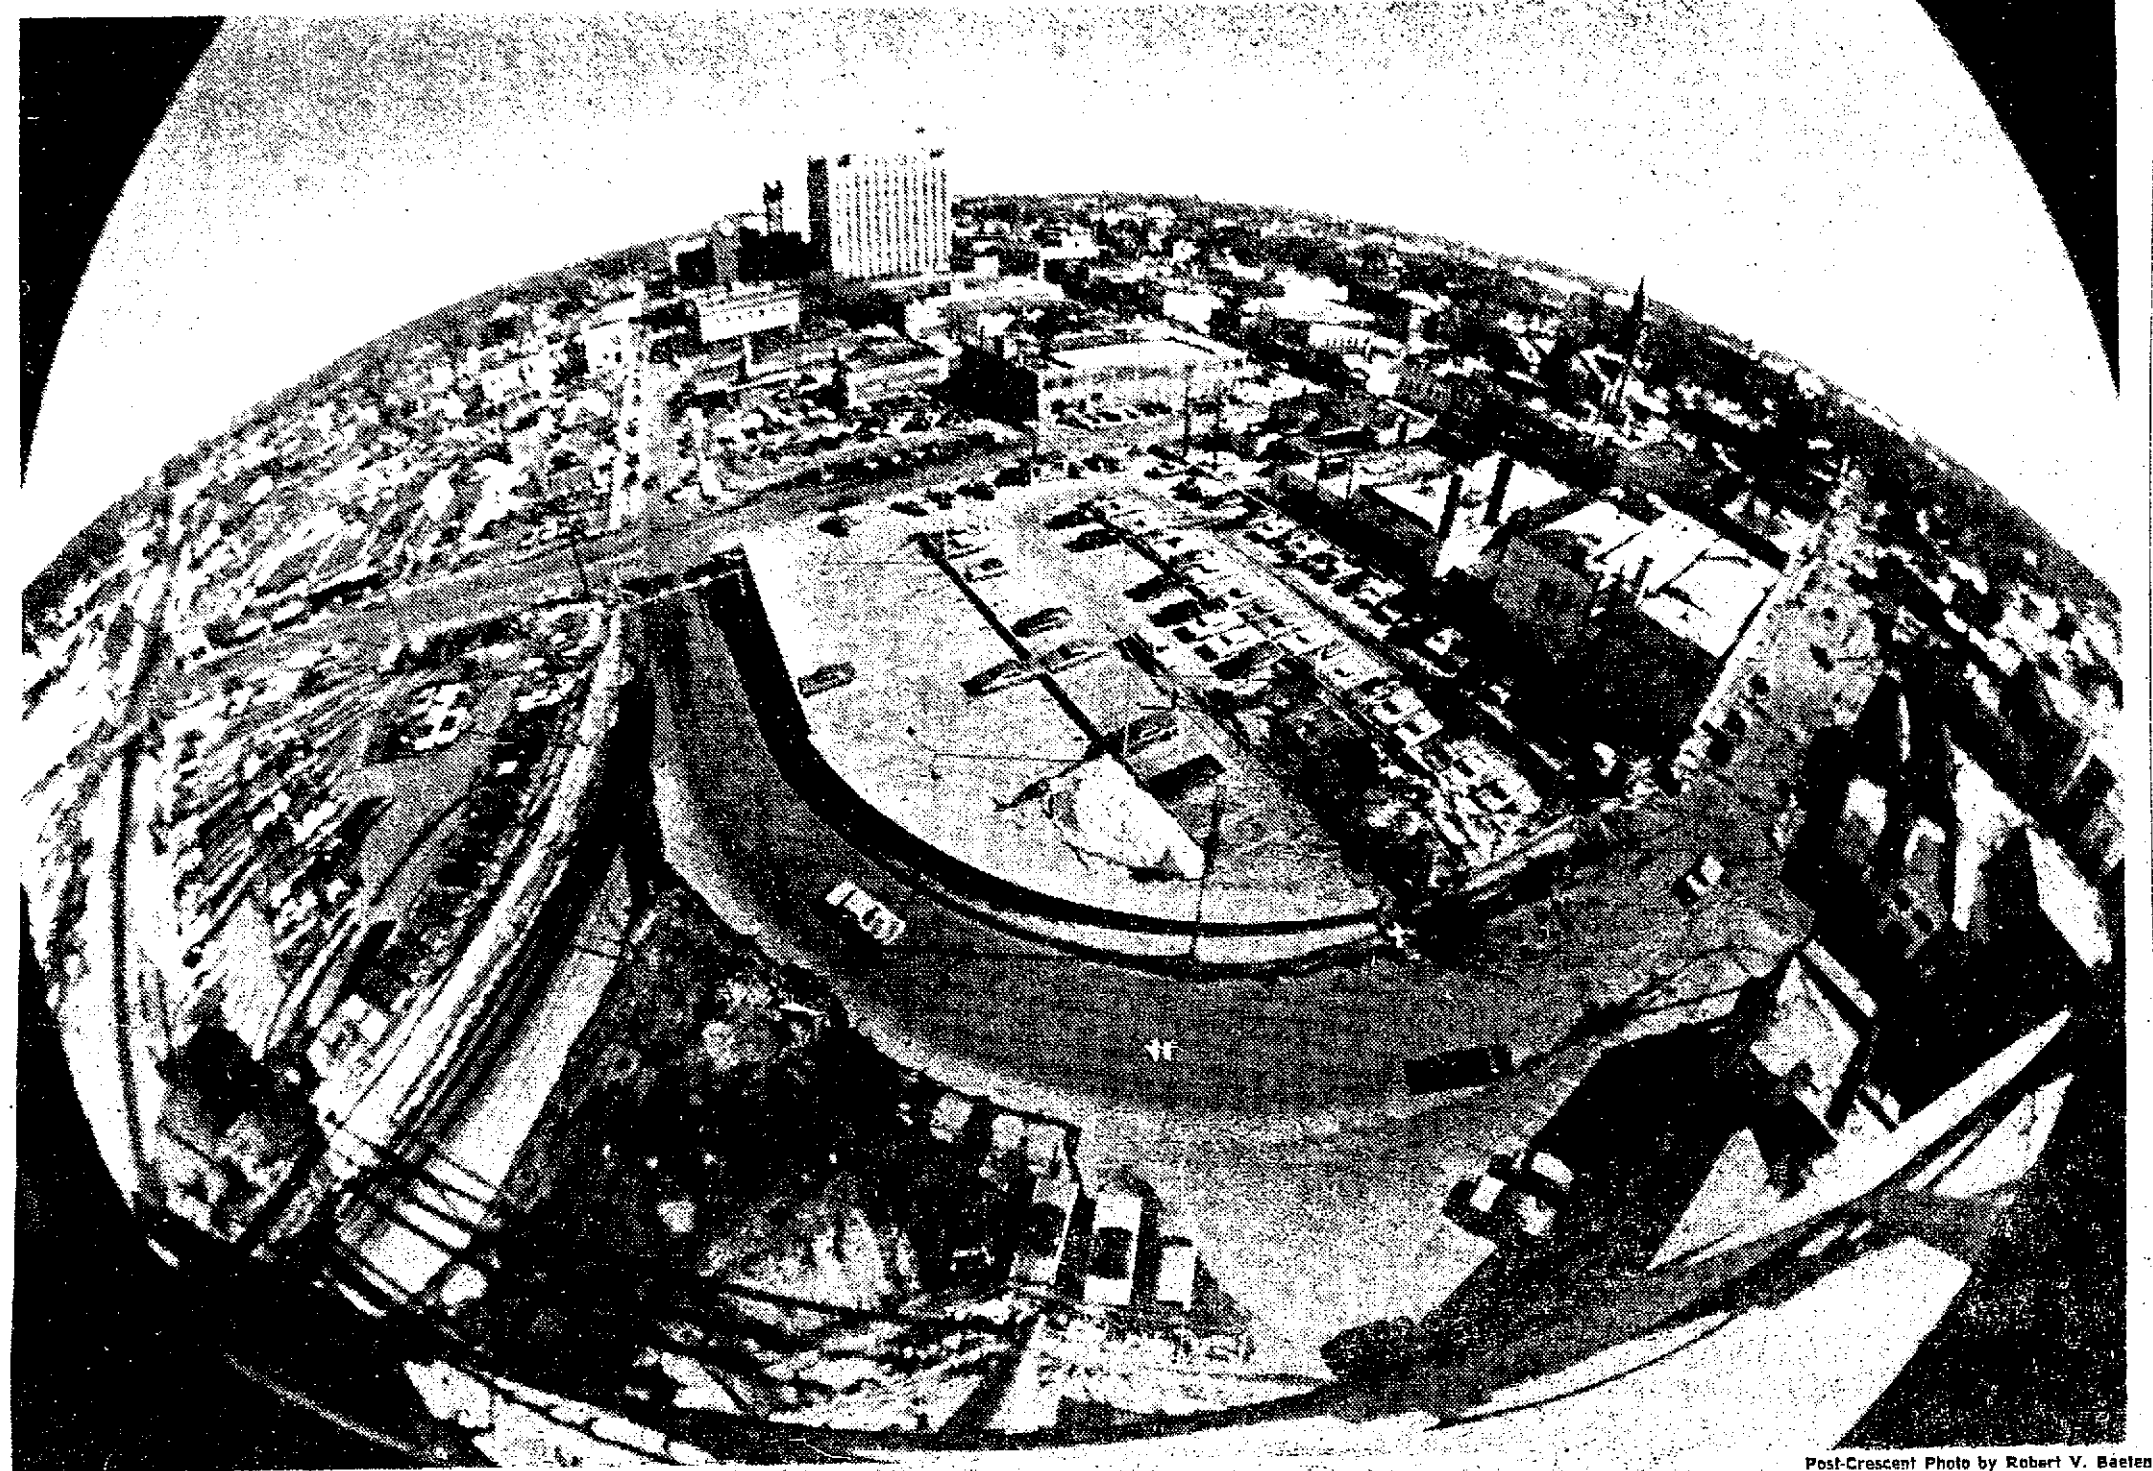

DeBruin said he wasn't in favor of necessarily relaxing the state standards but he felt it would be more workable to convert to the tough standards over a 10-year period.

"The DNR is going too fast in enforcement. It took 50 years to create these conditions (of pollution), and the DNR wants to straighten it out in a year," he said, "and that's a hardship on everybody."

Livingston said he surely didn't want weaker standards but felt the counties could enforce them more cheaply and more effectively. He said the inflexible state position on the rules has hurt many communities economically.

Other proponents for the bills include State Rep. Cletus Vanderperren, D-Green Bay, Raymond Neumann, Oostburg, and State Rep. Larry Swoboda, D-Luxemburg.

Vanderperren and Neumann criticized the state regulations on burning of wood and paper, as did Kampo today.

Air Wisconsin Adopts Joint Rate Compact

Air Wisconsin has reached a joint rate agreement with Flying Tiger Lines, Inc., for air freight shipments between 16 points in the United States.

The Appleton based airline is the first commuter air carrier to obtain a systemwide joint rate agreement on freight with the huge all-freight carrier.

Preston H. Wilbourne, vice president and general manager of Air Wisconsin, said the joint rate agreement, which has been approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board, would mean reduced rates on both inbound and outbound freight.

Officials of Flying Tiger Line "have been extremely impressed with the air freight capabilities of Air Wisconsin," according to Wilbourne.

The joint rate essentially will mean cheaper rates for shippers. Previously separate rates were paid each airline used, which brought a higher charge per mile.

All Air Wisconsin points are involved in the joint rates except Minneapolis and Chicago. Flying Tiger terminals involved include New York, Newark, Boston, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Portland, San Francisco and Seattle.

Cut Costs County $16,000

Federal funds to Outagamie County farmers have been sliced by $16,000 from 1970 levels under the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP).

The REAP program replaces the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP).

Group Jobs Possible

Last year $27,653 was allocated to 55 Outagamie County farms to aid in tiling projects. The ACP program provided $20,000 for streambank improvement work on 11 farms and $21,000 for surface drainage on 40 farms. Some aid came from special State ACP allocations.

Although there are no funds for the projects on an individual basis in 1971, aid still may be obtained for projects conducted jointly by farmers under pooling agreements.

The slices in the program were analyzed recently during a joint meeting of the county board agriculture committee, is tailored by a three man panel and Agricultural Stabilization including Geiger, Hohfelder, and with Dennis Hohfelder, Department of Natural Resources forester and Vernon Geiger, Soil Conservation Service conservationist.

Federal regulations also require the county to reserve 25 percent of its funds for use in special projects which may have environmental benefit.

National Priorities

Joe Rickert, county ASCS executive director, indicated pollution abatement project planning and streambank improvement projects may have high priority under the new program.

The county program actually is tailored by a three man panel and Agricultural Stabilization including Geiger, Hohfelder, and

Bert Weyenberg, chairman of the county ASCS committee.

The men have until June 1 to completely outline the county program although sign-up for the projects will start Monday and continue until April 9, said Rickert.

Watershed Considered

Rickert indicated conservation measures in the area of the Bear Creek Watershed also could receive high priority.

Although aid for construction or planning of manure stacking facilities may be available, there are few engineering guides and work on projects could be delayed, said Rickert.

Counties to Get $1.4 Million Welfare Assistance from State

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin counties will get almost $1.4 million from the state as the result of a Wisconsin Supreme Court decision.

The money had been withheld after a one year residency requirement for welfare recipients was declared unconstitutional in federal court.

"We deem the fact that the legislature not only continued the appropriation for temporary aid, but increased it, as highly significant of its intent to continue the policy of assisting the local units of government in honoring the 'temporary assistance' claims on advice of Atty. Gen. Robert Warren.

Warren contended the law under which the department had question or problem dealing with the schools is asked to contact any of the lay members struck down the state's one-year residence law in 1968.

Brillion Teacher Reinstated, But Says He'll Resign

BRILLION — Frank Boyle, 26-year-old high school English teacher who has been suspended from his duties since Feb. 15, has been reinstated. He will resume duties March 15, but has submitted his resignation effective at the end of the school year.

The announcement, in the form of a joint press release, was given late Friday night, two hours after a planned public hearing on the issue had been canceled. Friday's hearing was to determine "the possible termination of Boyle's contract."

Formal charges against the English teacher were to be read.

Boyle had been with the school three weeks when he came under fire "for methods and ideas of teaching." His rumored firing had brought a sit-in demonstration Feb. 12 by students who supported him.

On Feb. 16 Boyle had threatened suit in federal court to retain his position.

Arrive for Meeting

Approximately 200 students, parents, friends of Boyle and interested teachers throughout the state had arrived for the meeting, most expecting a dramatic clash of the two opposing educational philosophies. All were ushered to the high school gymnasium, after waiting outside half an hour beyond the scheduled opening.

The crowd was greeted by civil defense men from Calumet County, wearing protective helmets and carrying nightsticks. Sheriff's deputies also were on hand — one said they were summoned at 6 p.m. "to prevent any trouble" and to check against bomb scares.

Conduct by the authorities included the search of a Madison reporter's wife's purse.

But there was no clash — to follow existing rules and either of philosophies or from the hostile audience, many of whom expressed dissatisfaction that no meeting was held.

Matter Settled

School board officials reported at 9:30 p.m. that "the matter to some extent had been settled" and that the public hearing had been canceled at Boyle's wish.

While the crowd waited in the gym, three separate meetings reportedly were held in other school rooms. Attorneys for each side conferred, sending messages from one room to another, while the board conducted its own meeting.

Responding to the explanation that he had been responsible for the meeting's cancellation, Boyle said the public hearing was his prerogative, but added that it been held, "no charges would have been brought against me."

He said he thought the school board did not fire him because members had been informed by lawyers that their charges would not hold. "All I want to do is get back to teaching," he said. "That was my main concern all along."

He indicated that his decision to resign in June, in part stemmed from the fact the school board simply would not award him a contract.

No Comment

School board officials had no comment Friday beyond the paragraph announcements of the meeting's cancellation and Boyle's reinstatement.

Supt. of Schools Gaylord Unbehauen commented this morning in regard to the charges never given publicly. "If they had no substance, why is it that Boyle will resign?"

He added that he hoped that "both sides had learned something from the incident," but then returned, "no more comment."

Charges reportedly brought against Boyle were:

— "Insubordination in relaying false information to students."

Charges were that he told students grades were not important for college admission; and that he also had told students, "If Unbehauen were that insecure, he (Boyle) didn't want to talk to him."

"Misinformation Students"

It charges that he misinformed students regarding the administration's reaction to his book selection and that "he was in front of an administration council for three to four hours."

— "Insubordination in failing to follow existing rules and regulations." Charges were that he had held a student meeting which "violated school policies regarding Wednesday evening meetings."

It was said the meeting concerned the "inadequacy of the school action in disciplining other teachers."

Charges were that he discussed a drinking incident with another teacher to students; that he requested students to write an evaluation of his predecessor; and that he had told students of disciplinary action taken against another teacher by the administrative council.

The charges had been submitted by the Brillion Public School Administrative staff.

Baptists Interested In New Type of 'Ship of Hope'

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — Dr. Charles E. Green has a dream about a ship. He's hoping other Southern Baptists will join with him in working to make the dream come true. And some denominational agencies are encouraging the idea.

Dr. Green wants the denomination to seek a Navy hospital ship which it could operate as a vessel of mercy around the world. He envisions the floating hospital as a logical extension of the already widespread missionary work of the Southern Baptist Convention.

"It would be one of the greatest things the church could do," the Lawton pediatrician and local Health Department director said. "Not as many professional people—doctors, nurses and dentists—are going into the foreign mission field as in the past. This would be a great opportunity to utilize these professional people who could serve aboard the ship for several months."

Picked Out
Dr. Green, who serves as pastor for a small Baptist church and teaches a men's Sunday school class in another, already has a ship picked out. It is the Navy hospital ship Sanctuary, a 200-bed, three-operating room vessel now on station in Vietnam.

From the work he has done so far, Dr. Green figures it would cost $1 million a year to keep the Sanctuary afloat. "But we could easily do it, if we can get the churches behind it," he said. "We have 11 million members, and they contribute generously to our foreign mission work."

The Sanctuary is due back in the United States in mid-July. Dr. Green hopes the denomination can obtain it before it is deactivated and placed in mothballs.

He inspected mothballed hospital ships Jan. 20 near Seattle, Wash. "I found out that it could cost as much as $10 million to bring one out of mothballs," he said.

Strip Ship
"When they are put in mothballs, they take off all the delicate equipment and everything. You would have to replace everything and repaint it. It would be prohibitive for any organization to try to do that."

While at Seattle he learned that the Sanctuary was due back in July. That's when he decided to make a try for her.

"If the Navy would keep the Sanctuary on a standby basis for a year, that would give us a year to get the money, go through the necessary channels, and all that," Dr. Green said.

He has contacted the chief of naval operations about obtaining the Sanctuary, and has asked Sens. Fred Harris and Henry Bellmon and other members of the Oklahoma congressional delegation for help.

The Southern Baptist Hospital board of trustees, of which he is a member, has directed him to continue his efforts to secure a ship and to come up with cost estimates.

A meeting is scheduled soon with the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board to go deeper into the proposal, and the Baptist Brotherhood has promised aid. Dr. Green will outline his plan before Oklahoma Baptist men this Saturday, and it is to be presented to Baptist men in other states.

The Sanctuary is a sister ship to the hospital ship Hope. Dr. Green said the Hope, operated by the People to People Health Foundation Inc., is a teaching hospital, while Dr. Green sees the Sanctuary under the Southern Baptist as an operating hospital.

He is well acquainted with the Sanctuary. He was aboard her a number of times while serving as a volunteer physician in Vietnam in July and August 1969 with an American Medical Association program.

Dr. George B. Hilson, missionary to Puerto Rico for eight years, now pastor of the Waukesha Wesleyan Church, will speak at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Appleton Wesleyan Church.

He also will show a movie, "Black Diamond," which he produced, about an African minister who lives in Sierra Leone.

While in Puerto Rico, Hilson ministered to people of many denominations and races. In connection with his mission work, he has traveled throughout the world.

Small Dog Does His Job Too Well
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The small, black and white dog protected his unconscious, 83-year-old master during the cold, wet night, and his barking summoned help, but the dog failed to recognize help when it came.

"Apparently the little dog thought he was going to protect his master," said police Sgt. M. E. Lowry. "He bit Officer C. S. McLendon on the leg."

James G. Gholston walked away from his home recently and was found unconscious in dense woods less than a mile away Wednesday, authorities said. He was taken to an Atlanta hospital where he was reported in serious condition.

Nixon Vietnam Policy Rapped By Senators

One would be to bar drafting anyone under 30. Another would require that the joint chiefs spend some time on the front line. And another would bar industry from making any profit on the production of war materials.

Bayh said in his Madison speech that the outcast Asian war is a "moral and Asian hemorrhage."

"The way is open for us to negotiate our way out of Vietnam," he said. "And I say to you that we should be negotiating our way out instead of shooting our way out."

New Taxation
The Indiana senator suggested that any higher level of military expenditures be financed by new taxation.

"Thus the burden of convincing the American people of the need for greater military expenditures... would fall on the military," he said.

McGovern and Bayh met separately with Wisconsin Gov. Patrick Lucey, who has been a vocal critic of U.S. policy in Southeast Asia. Lucey is expected to play a major role in the 1972 Wisconsin presidential primary.

Both senators also planned further appearances in Wisconsin this weekend.

110 Teens Get Acquainted With Franciscan Life

MANITOWOC — Live-ins to acquaint interested young women with the initial formative periods of the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity here, have been planned on weekends.

The first weekend program, which attracted 35 young women from throughout the Diocese of Green Bay, was in February.

An additional 70 girls, however, have signed up for two more weekends, March 13 through March 27.

During the live-ins, the young women will meet and work with the aspirants and postulants, and become acquainted with the history of the order through lectures and tours of the motherhouse and Holy Family College.

The Franciscan order is one of the few communities which has retained an aspirancy and conducts a high school for those girls interested in exploring the possibilities of religious vocations.

Are You in the Pentagon's Files?

Maybe sometime in the future being one of the 25 million Americans whose dossier is on file at the Pentagon will become something of a status symbol. After all if a person is one of every eight Americans who has been under surveillance by our military it puts that person in rather an exclusive class.

Or does it?

Assistant Defense Secretary Robert Froehke has testified that such files are kept on the President of the United States, the Vice President and members of the Cabinet, although those particular ones are kept in a separate controlled vault area unlike those of the rest, presumably ordinary people. Why such dossiers on the high and mighty are needed was not explained but maybe some one in the Pentagon at some time heard the allegation that a certain Cabinet member more than a hundred years ago was involved in the plot against President Abraham Lincoln.

As far as the dossiers on the rest of the citizenry, Pentagon spokesmen say they are needed just in case there is more civil violence requiring the presence of federal troops. Since the Pentagon has finally acknowledged that Senator Adlai Stevenson III was one of those on file, we presume that in case of another Chicago police riot his whereabouts will be thoroughly checked. No one has, however, yet explained why the file on Senator Stevenson was kept in the first place and not on a couple of his predecessors like former Senator Smith or the late Senator Dirksen. And what about Mayor Richard Daley or Governor Ronald Reagan?

The new policy bans such surveillance "of federal, state or local officials or of candidates for such offices." So that leaves only the voters to take up the time of the military snoopers.

In the past, according to the Army agent who broke all the news about this, people who took part in demonstrations against United States policies or those who called up government officials to complain about something might well be put under surveillance. As Senator Sam Ervin pointed out, that must include him.

Mr. Froehke conceded that erroneous material might have crept into some of the dossiers but that it would be "a long and very expensive undertaking" to clear out the files. It seems a worthy task indeed for the Pentagon. They can take all those agents now a-spying off the streets and put them at desks surveilling the surveillance.

George Orwell was pretty much behind the time when he portrayed Big Brother as watching just about everybody by 1984. In fact he was at least one and probably two decades off.

The Real School Problem Is Money

If the true purpose of last Wednesday night's public meeting on the school district was to stir concern about its serious financial problems and lay the framework for citizen participation, it was disappointing.

But it did confirm one point — the people probably aren't going to "hear" about the crisis until it hits them directly. Like their child not being able to take a class because it was eliminated for financial reasons.

There were 400 persons at the meeting, and some of them undoubtedly gained some awareness of the seriousness of the problem, as Orlyn Ziemann, school district administrator, and Robert Van Ralle, of the State Department of Public Instruction, viewed the subject.

Both men said the schools can't continue to exist as they are now known because of the apparently growing resistance of the property taxpayer to foot the bill. Changes must come, and the quality of education might be affected.

It was like pulling teeth Wednesday trying to bring the discussion and questions to the really important subject of total school finances. The trimester system — only one of several possible economy measures — got most of the attention. Questioners were more interested in their son or daughter would graduate in less than three years and be forced to leave school or allowed to leave the school building when he or she wasn't in class.

The questions were legitimate — and maybe administrators deserved a little burn for giving the appearance last month of trying to ramrod through this major organizational change at the high schools. But the trimester was no longer a rush issue Wednesday because the administration had eased off, so the meeting could have served a more vital purpose — that of bringing together all the resources and ideas of parents, educators and others in hopes of getting on the road to solving the money problem.

Administrators must feel a special frustration. Not only are they faced with an insurmountable task of maintaining quality of education with a lot less money this year but they are hit with criticism and hampered by rumors when they come forth with a suggestion for a much-needed immediate solution. The simple fact is that something has to change within the next several months or the Appleton school system may be broke before the calendar year is out.

So, with those anti-trimester feelings off their chests, the people of this community should be able to clearly "hear" the warnings. Now, they can direct their enthusiasm and zest toward possibly forming an education council to work with the board of education and administrators, and all parents, to find answers.

The trimester may not be one of the answers but killing it surely isn't the solution to the real problem, and if other solutions aren't found, the youngsters will be the ones to suffer.

That's not a threat; that's an inevitability.

Free Love Not So Free

Free love may not be so free after all.

At the risk of being scorned by the "emancipated ones," some thoughtful students of the current American scene are raising the question of the possible relationship of the lifting of the taboos on pre-marital sex and the alarming rise in the incidence of venereal disease in recent years.

Certainly no one can any longer shrug off recent findings in the latter field. Coupled with earlier reports of grave concern among medical people about the rise of venereal disease to epidemic proportion on the West Coast is the more recent Division of Health's release on the problem in our own state.

Wisconsin had 7,666 reported cases of gonorrhea in 1970. That's three and one-half times as many as only five years ago! The disease, says the division, "is now so prevalent that it has become a major health problem."

The health agency adds the suggestion that we need to bestir ourselves and work harder in applying modern diagnostic and treatment methods.

That is undoubtedly true, and urgently necessary, although it is also disconcertingly reminiscent of the old proverb about locking the barn after the horse is stolen. There's another old saw about the ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure, and when it comes to the topic at hand, that prevention just might be a return to the good old-fashioned morality of the Judeo-Christian ethic

Phoenix Banquet Annual Affair

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for March 2, 1871.
Over a year ago the Phoenix Society inaugurated the custom of having a banquet — a reunion of the members of that Society — once a year when a feast of reason might be had as well as a general good time experienced by those who attended them.
The first attempt was a glorious success. Choice spirits assembled around tables groaning under the weight of good things. Brave hearts were there, brim-full of love and enthusiasm for the Society and alma mater (Lawrence University), and all went away with a feeling that the only cause for regret was the fact that far too long a time must elapse before they could again assemble under the same auspicious circumstances.

But how soon the time has passed and here we are now chronicling still another year, well worthy to follow in the wake of its predecessor.

The Leveke House was chosen for the occasion. The parlors early were filled with members and friends of the Society. Other amusements occurring on the same evening kept some away from the gathering, but still the number of invited guests and members was not small.

Ten years ago, the danger in Laos was so acute that John F. Kennedy and Russia's Nikita Khrushchev got together and set up a 14-nation meeting in Geneva aimed at defusing the time bomb.

They could have spared themselves the effort. The ink was barely dry on the so-called peace document when the Communists were violating it. And soon afterward, the United States and South Vietnam had also breached the pact which was supposed to guarantee the independence and neutrality of Laos. But neither side admitted what they were doing.

When the U.S. Command in Saigon ended a six-day news blackout Feb. 5 and disclosed that 9,000 American troops were supporting 20,000 South Vietnamese about to thrust into the mountainous kingdom, the myth of neutrality was finally shattered.

Today there seems less chance of a major crisis over Laos, however, than there was a decade ago. Ten years ago, the resources of Indochina may have seemed vital to U.S. interests. At that time both the Russians and Chinese regarded Southeast Asia as of great importance to their national interests.

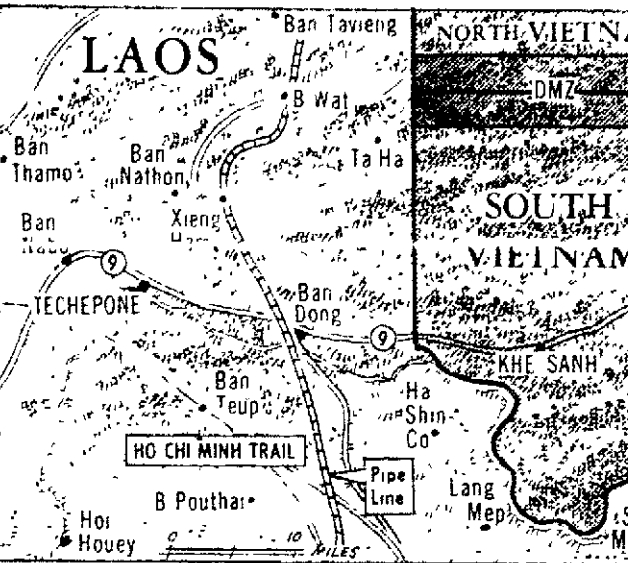

Southeast Asia is no longer the ripe plum it once seemed. And it is doubtful that the Chinese would turn Indochina into another Korea or that the Russians would risk a nuclear showdown over Laos.

Main threat to the Communist command is the possibility that the Laos operation may succeed in cutting effectively the Ho Chi Minh trail. That network of jungle-covered roads and

NEUTRALITY MYTH SHATTERED

Despite the written guarantee of 14 nations, Laos has not seen peace since the hands-off accord was signed in Geneva nine years ago tracks in the eastern Laotian Panhandle is now the main enemy supply line into South Vietnam and Cambodia.

If the trail were effectively cut, the Communist command might respond by surging across the demilitarized zone into South Vietnam, but that could cost the enemy dearly.

About 45,000 North Vietnamese guard the Ho Chi Minh Trail and perhaps another 25,000 are helping the pro-Communist Pathet Lao in a civil war against the government of Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma.

CIA Trains Guerrillas
On the other side of the coin, a clandestine army of Meo tribesmen recruited by the CIA has done a good deal of fighting against the Communist-led troops in the Plain of Jars area.

Souvanna Phouma is an avowed neutralist, but since 1964 he has given tacit consent to American bombing of the Ho Chi Minh Trail and in the intelligence gathering activities of the Meo tribesmen.

When the South Vietnamese swarmed into Laos Feb. 8, Souvanna Phouma expressed dismay at the action by troops representing countries which had signed the 1962 Laotian neutrality pact.

But it was to be expected that the premier would make such a declaration to preserve his image of neutrality.

University Merger Real Test Of Lucey's Political Ability

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent/Madison Bureau
MADISON — That politics is the art of the possible has become a tiresome bromide. Yet it is useful in appraising public problems and public affairs developments to remember that the hackneyed axiom has survived because it represents a profound truth.
Its value is now being illustrated by Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, who will be graded below very few of his contemporaries on the Wisconsin state for his mastery of the political art.

The demonstration will involve this year the single biggest undertaking of the new Democratic governor's first term — his uncompromising demand for a shakeup in the administration and the mission of state-supported higher education which has reached breathtaking size and cost.

The orthodox assessment of the outlook will be that he cannot achieve the union of the proud University of Wisconsin and its branches and the separate state university system which is an unrelated entity, as he put it so accurately, only through historical accident. If a higher education system for the state was being developed today, there cannot be the slightest doubt that it would be unified.

Many other men have toyed with this. Republicans who ruled the state for the last six years mostly were aware of the conflicts, the competition, the jealousies and rivalries, the "trade-offs," as Lucey bluntly described them, and the almost certain costly waste resulting from a double track execution of an educational service of similar if not entirely identical purpose and goals, as the taxpayer in the ranks tends to see it.

But they flinched, having a tribal memory of the bruising fight in an earlier Republican regime on the identical question that brought months of fratricidal bloodletting and ignominious defeat.

I once built a home for my family and found fascinating pleasure in observing the skilled carpenters and cabinetmakers and other craftsmen on the job. In a real sense, too, it is fun to observe the political craftsman at work — and if Lucey does not qualify for the designation there are few in Wisconsin today who can claim it.

Consider the strategy disclosed in only a few pages of his speech manuscript as he made his blunt proposition to rid the state of the "costly and unseemly rivalry between the two systems."

Talks About Savings
He talked about the $15 million cost of the creakingly top-heavy troika administration represented by the two university systems and the Coordinating Council for Higher Education. He assured legislators that a union of the two systems and the elimination of CCHE could save $4 million, or the income tax payment equivalent of perhaps 5,000 taxpayers of substantial earning capacity. He emphasized a need for more concentration on the undergraduate "teaching mission" at the UW, which probably was noted by more students and parents than the recluse inner community of the UW is aware.

University teachers are as concerned with take-home pay as their neighbors, and sometimes more so. In the "austerity" atmosphere he has created, the governor's pay increase proposals must have had a fond reception.

He carefully stipulated his condition that new UW President John Weaver be assured of the command of the new combined university system he wants. This was almost certain to square with the conviction of constituents that the new man should have a fair chance to demonstrate his qualities after the fuss made about the succession to the UW throne room.

He specified what didn't need specification — that tens of thousands of students who are now getting Whitewater, Stevens Point, degrees et al. will be eligible for University of Wisconsin degrees. He held out the juicy carrot of security for the most important of the Republican members of the governing boards — which is perhaps the most remarkable abnegation to be expected from the leader of a party hungry for job patronage.

He recited in detail and with emphasis what has been glossed over too long — the vulgar political competition and dealing in new campus authorizations and proprietorships.

"I have no doubt that the opposition will be formidable," Lucey concluded in the understatement of the Capitol year. As an illustration of the skilled politician in action, it was his finest hour in a considerable career.

Civil Liberties Union Supports Bill on Vietnam

Editor, The Post-Crescent,
The Wisconsin Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union has announced its support of State Senate Bill 180 which will provide a court test of the constitutionality of the Vietnam War. We encourage all citizens of the state to let their senators and representatives know how they feel about the war and about this bill which is now undergoing hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Senate Bill 180 is similar to the bill enacted into law in the state of Massachusetts, and will provide an opportunity for the state of Wisconsin to protect the interests of its citizens by challenging the constitutionality of protracted and undeclared wars before the Supreme Court.

Description of Bill (by Legislative Reference Bureau): This bill makes it unlawful for the military forces of the U. S. to require an inhabitant of this state... to serve outside the territorial limits of the U.S. "in the conduct of armed hostilities not an emergency and not otherwise authorized in the powers granted to the President of the United States... in the Constitution... unless initially authorized or subsequently ratified by a congressional declaration of war. The attorney general is required to bring a legal action on the part of the state and any of the inhabitants of the state when such legal action is required.

There are two major advantages of this approach to challenging the constitutionality of the war. One is that the full resources of the state are put to work on the effort, as opposed to a single lawyer representing a single serviceman in court. The other is that the constitution provides that a state can bring an original action in the U. S. Supreme Court, bypassing the slow process of moving through the lower courts.

The Supreme Court denied a hearing to Massachusetts by a 6-3 vote, one short of the four required to approve a hearing. Massachusetts is now proceeding through the U. S. District Court in Boston and will eventually reach the Supreme Court again. The importance of a Wisconsin law is that direct access to the Supreme Court is possible. Each week of this war the death toll mounts; our efforts here, right now in Wisconsin, may speed the end of the war.

Please write your own state senator and/or senators on the Senate Judiciary Committee about Senate Bill 180. It is our responsibility as citizens to let our elected representatives know how we feel about the war and about whether we think more of our citizens should be sacrificed to an effort that apparently doesn't warrant a declaration of war and has already claimed 50,000 American dead.

College Students Big Help in Snow Emergency

Editor, The Post-Crescent
For some time I have been perturbed by the current and rather general indictment of young people, especially college students. The spectacular and ugly actions of a minority of them have provided marvelous material for the mass media and I suspect that many individuals have, as a result, innocently and incorrectly assumed that there is scant hope for the future because these "hoodlums" will inevitably be in charge of our world.
This is not a protest letter. It is, instead, a thank-you note to some anonymous inhabitants of Trever Hall at Lawrence University. Three times during three hours of the notable snowfall of Monday, February 22, cars were stuck and immobile in the immediate vicinity of that dormitory. One contained a mother with three small children, all desperately anxious to reach home. Another involved a man on a semi-emergency errand. Upon two of these occasions I went into Trever Hall and requested help. Both times it was forthcoming immediately in good numbers to a total stranger. The people, and their cars, were handled exceptionally well, with muscle and shovels, without fanfare on the part of the Trever Hall men. A genuine offer of monetary reward was quickly spurned by them.

I suppose that some of them had long hair, or beards, or mustaches, or clothes that we middle-agers might consider outrageous. I didn't notice.

Reverse Jackstraws
Requires Delicate Touch

BY CAPPY DICK

Today's game of reverse jackstraws is somewhat like the game described as removing straws as in ordinary jackstraws. Start with 20 straws. Cut them in half to make 40 pieces. Give each player 20 pieces (this is a game for only two players). You will also need a six-inch square of cardboard to place on the table.

The players take turns placing straws on the cardboard square to build a pile. The object is to do this without moving any straws already in the pile. This requires as much skill as it does to remove straws from a pile.

Here's how to score: A player is penalized five points for every straw he moves when placing another jackstraw on the pile.

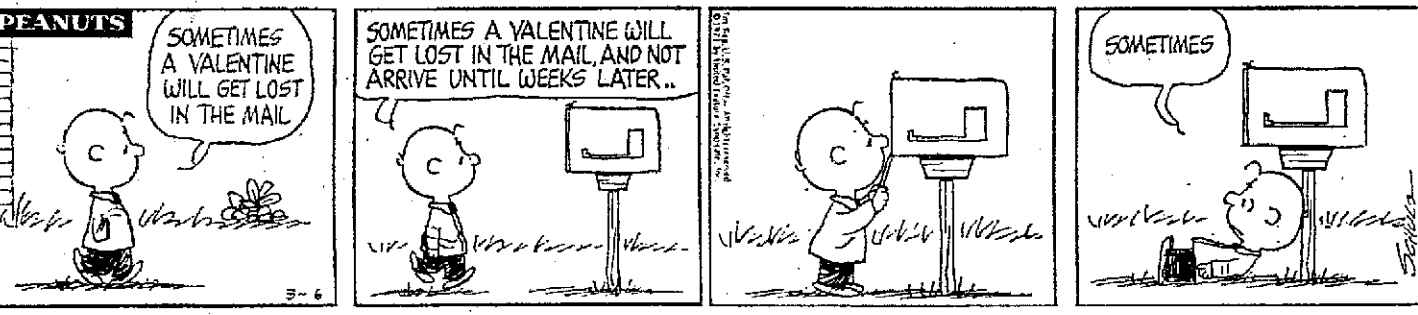

A player is penalized three points for every straw he places which protrudes beyond the edge of the cardboard square.

The player with the lowest total of penalties when the last straw has been placed wins the game.

Monday: Lots more good fun for every boy and girl!

Add to the Pile

yesterday's fun-project where balls of paper were piled into a shoe box lid until one ball tumbled from the pyramid. In today's game soda straws are used to build a pile of jackstraws instead of

All Local Taverns Will be Inspected

NEENAH — Starting in April all taverns holding a Class 'B' malt beverage and liquor license will be inspected by the city health officer before the licenses are renewed in June.

The health and welfare committee Thursday directed health officer Donald Day to begin the inspection program and will recommend that Day's stamp of approval be received before a liquor license be approved.

At present, all taverns which also hold a food handling certificate are inspected, at least annually by state authorities.

First Aid Instructors Course Set

NEENAH-MENASHA — The Twin Cities chapter of the American Red Cross will conduct a marathon course to train first aid instructors from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. March 27 and 28 at the Elissa D. Smith Public Library.

The major reason for the intensive first aid instructors' training program is that Red Cross nationally is teaching first aid via sessions involving films, lectures, practice sessions and workbooks through a system developed and now shared by the Bell System.

The new methods require current authorized instructors to receive additional training. Because the course has been popular additional teachers will be needed.

Whirlwind Schedule

In an effort to train instructors within a few months time, Edward R. Udlock, Red Cross director of safety programs for De Pere-Marquette chapters, those in Eastern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan, has set up a whirlwind schedule of weekend and evening classes to accommodate potential instructors who are unable to take the course during their regular work hours.

In a period of 11 weeks, instructors will be taught in seven communities ranging from Ironwood and Marquette, Mich., in the north to White-water in the south. It is hoped a minimum of 250 instructors will be trained so that by mid-April, Red Cross chapters in Michigan and Eastern Wisconsin all will be teaching classes utilizing multimedia methods.

No Experience

Registrations for the course in Menasha are open to any person, 17 years or older who has a willingness to share his free time to teach first aid. No prior first aid is required.

Registrants will make their own arrangements for transportation. Time will be allotted for meals when classes are scheduled during regular eating times. Women attending are urged to wear slacks or shorts, while men should wear comfortable clothes for the practice sessions.

There will be no charge for instructions. However, participants must purchase workbooks at a cost of $2.60 each. To complete the course, class members must attend all sessions.

Interested persons may register by calling the Twin Cities chapter of the American Red Cross.

Menasha Man Sues City, Officers For $100,000

NEENAH — A Menasha man has filed a $100,000 lawsuit in Winnebago County Circuit Court against the city and four policemen for personal damages stemming from an incident on June 25, 1970.

Harold Hedberg, 749 Carver Lane, charged that four police officers — Carl Peters, Peter Kaul, Philip Schiller and Harold Williams seized Hedberg and took him to jail without "any reasonable or probable cause."

In the summons served on the city Feb. 25, Hedberg, through his attorney, Thomas Woodrow, calls for the city to answer the summons and comply within 20 days.

The City Council referred the matter which is in Winnebago County Circuit Court to the city attorney and insurance company.

Weekly Earnings in January

Weekly earnings in January 1970 averaged $160.62 for Twin Cities workers. Average weekly hours were 44.1.

Slight Decrease

The 153 reporting establishments in the Appleton-Neenah-Menasha area reported a "significant" decrease of 364 employees in mid-January over December. The report said six five of those were from 30 reporting durable goods firms with 36 of them in primary metals industry.

Paper and allied industries showed a "modest increase" of 247 employees, but that was off by a decline of 123 in food and kindred products industries dropping the net employee loss for non-durable industries in the area to 24.

Twenty-three construction firms reported a loss of 93 employees.

The number of unfilled job openings at the WSES office jumped 40 per cent at the end of December, nearly all of it the result of two large retail outlets who plan to open their doors in the near future.

Professionals Down

Presumably these are Gimbel and Shopko stores planning to open soon in Appleton.

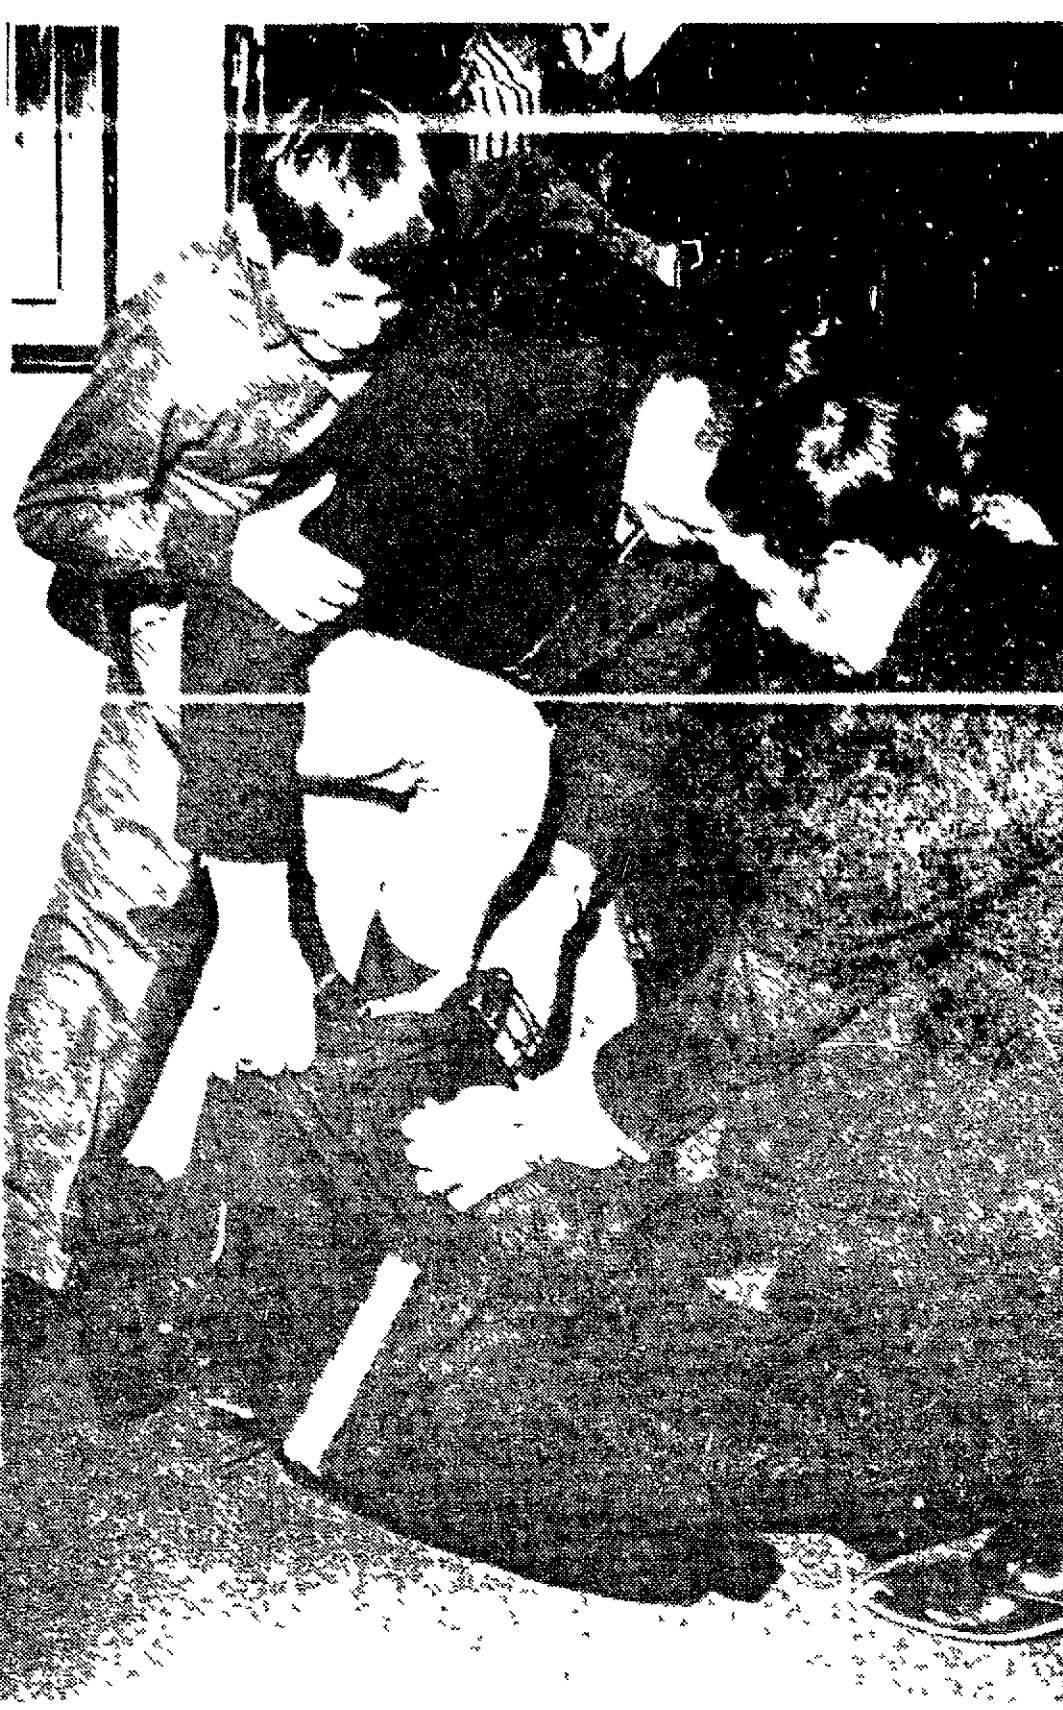

Significant decreases occurred in the demand for workers in the professional, technical and managerial occupations. The report noted while demand for workers in the processing, machine trades, bench work, structural work and miscellaneous occupations jumped 40 per cent.

Demand for part-time workers went up 70 per cent, but this, the report says is largely the result of the demand for workers at the two soon-to-open retail outlets.

Some workers hesitate to claim a refund or credit for the extra dollars paid in a year. They think that the excess paid may benefit them later in the form of a better Social Security retirement check. They are wrong.

Donnick pointed out that in figuring average earnings to determine benefit amount, his department cannot use a wage figure over $7,800 for 1970.

So the taxpayer is wise to apply for a refund or a credit against his income tax if his Form W-2's show that he contributed FICA tax over $374.40 last year," Donnick concluded.

$1,000 Worth of Blood

Neenah-Menasha — Two Twin City Men reached the five-gallon mark when they donated a pint of blood during the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile last week.

John F. Stimp and Merlin Cosgrove have contributed a comparable value of $1,000 each if blood were at the rate per pint of $25, according to Red Cross officials.

Blood costs can run anywhere from $25 to $55 per pint. Miss Mildred Alger and Mrs. Ann McMillen each have completed their fourth gallon. That's worth anywhere from $800 to $1,760.

3 Gallon Pins

Receiving three gallon pins were Donald Miller, James Zaroth and Alice Voss. Two gallon donor pins went to Catherine Howman, Charles McCullough, Gladys Eggert, Matt Becker and Mrs. Tom Koslowski.

Joining the one-gallon club were Marie Storgbauer, Beverly Coenen, Timothy Heider, Sister Catherine Sinnott, Jerome Janowski, Robert McArthur, Frances Stimp, Elaine Landstrom, Ardis Kraus, Patricia Harbor, David Reinhold, Vivian Walter, Martin Day, Mary Glogowski, Mrs. Conrad Stephens and Tom Baldauf.

The total of 53 gallons, or 424 pints of blood, runs in monetary value from $10,000 to $23,320 contributed by these 28 donors. A total of 618 other persons contributed and 646 pints of blood were collected to help keep the blood supplied for the twin cities residents at no cost to the recipient for the blood itself.

During the 17 hours of the three-day visit of the bloodmobile, 127 volunteers aided the staff from the Badger Red Cross Blood Center, Madison.

The Red Cross does not charge for the blood.

One-Way Plan Is Sent Back

BY DINAH WALTER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — The proposal for a one-way traffic system will be returned to the city by the state Division of Highways for re-evaluation. Joseph Van Lieshout said this morning.

Van Lieshout said he learned of the decision in a telegram he received Thursday from Wayne N. Volk, chief traffic engineer, Wisconsin Division of Highways.

The wire stated: "Confirming conversation yesterday, we will not recommend Menasha one-way proposal to commission for action before receiving additional information from our district office."

Van Lieshout said that in his conversation with Volk on the previous day, the traffic engineer had said that the decision to return the request to the meeting of the public safety district office and City of Menasha was based on the public hearing Monday night and the City Council's decision to refer the proposal to committee for further study.

Public Opposition

After the public hearing at which only one person in 100 spoke out in favor of the proposal, Mayor James Adams said he had heard that the state Highway Commission was looking favorably on a 120-day trial period for the one-way couplet.

After the hearing, officials decided to call another joint meeting of the public safety committee and the street and sanitation committee to determine what to do next.

Van Lieshout, who said he was coordinator of the Men of Menasha group which is against the proposal, was one of the strongest voices against the traffic system during the hearing.

At the hearing Monday, he said he saw no major traffic congestion problems in the city. The one-way system has been proposed by local officials who say it would ease traffic congestion problems, especially around the downtown area.

Van Lieshout said that following the hearing, he sent wires to Gov. Patrick Lucey, the Wisconsin Highway Commission, Sen. Jack Steinhilber and State Rep. Michael G. Ellis, asking that state approval of the system be withheld.

His message stated that "Menasha citizens, industry, labor, retailers, hospital, and medical clinics rejected proposal entirely" at the hearing.

9.3 in Favor

"Only one citizen spoke in favor. Request permission for referendum approval by citizens following repair of present Highway 114," he continued.

His wire further stated that the "streets in Menasha will support two-way traffic only on two main artery bridges."

"Please save Menasha from traffic confusion with maze patterns. Protect only 1090 day casually free record."

Van Lieshout said this morning that he requests the citizens who attended the meeting to write to the City Council to "please reconsider" the proposal as the method for rerouting Highway 114 through Menasha, "and to expedite the approval and construction of the Little Lake Butte des Morts bridge which will eventually alleviate any traffic congestion downtown."

Mayor James Adams, Police Chief Lester Clark and other officials want to give the one-way plan a 120-day trial period to see if it would work. If it doesn't, they say the system could be ended.

The council, in a 10-2 vote last month, approved a resolution asking the state Highway Commission for a 120-day trial period.

CPA Named Manager At John Strange Co.

MENASHA — William R. Hutchings has been appointed manager of budgets and costs and acting administrative manager with the John Strange Paper Company.

Hutchings, a certified public accountant, started on the job March 1. Previously he was with a Marshfield plywood firm and Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co., Port Edwards.

Assets Increase For Credit Union

NEENAH — Assets of the City of Neenah Employees Credit Union increased 14 per cent during the past year, according to Treasurer John Sahli.

At present there are 452 members in the credit union with shares totaling $308,927. The assets now total $340,034.

Re-elected to the board of directors were Paul Pfaff, Sahli, and Donald Schmidt. Martin Damrau was re-elected to a three-year term on the credit committee.

Local Group Seeks Change to Allow Dogs in Parks

NEENAH — An effort is underway to get enabling local legislation to allow dog races and dog training sessions in city parks.

Dogs now are banned from city parks.

Backing the ordinance change to permit the controlled shows and training sessions are the park and recreation commission, and the Animal Welfare League.

The park and recreation commission has recommended that special use permits be issued to allow the dog shows.

However, who would have the power to issue the permit hasn't been decided. It could be the mayor, city council or park and recreation commission. But the health and welfare committee has been asked to check into the ordinance and suggest a special use permit and designate who should have the power to issue it.

said he had heard that the state Highway Commission was looking favorably on a 120-day trial period for the one-way couplet.

After the hearing, officials decided to call another joint meeting of the public safety committee and the street and sanitation committee to determine what to do next.

Van Lieshout, who said he was coordinator of the Men of Menasha group which is against the proposal, was one of the strongest voices against the traffic system during the hearing.

At the hearing Monday, he said he saw no major traffic congestion problems in the city. The one-way system has been proposed by local officials who say it would ease traffic congestion problems, especially around the downtown area.

Van Lieshout said that following the hearing, he sent wires to Gov. Patrick Lucey, the Wisconsin Highway Commission, Sen. Jack Steinhilber and State Rep. Michael G. Ellis, asking that state approval of the system be withheld.

His message stated that "Menasha citizens, industry, labor, retailers, hospital, and medical clinics rejected proposal entirely" at the hearing.

9.3 in Favor

"Only one citizen spoke in favor. Request permission for referendum approval by citizens following repair of present Highway 114," he continued.

His wire further stated that the "streets in Menasha will support two-way traffic only on two main artery bridges."

"Please save Menasha from traffic confusion with maze patterns. Protect only 1090 day casually free record."

Van Lieshout said this morning that he requests the citizens who attended the meeting to write to the City Council to "please reconsider" the proposal as the method for rerouting Highway 114 through Menasha, "and to expedite the approval and construction of the Little Lake Butte des Morts bridge which will eventually alleviate any traffic congestion downtown."

Mayor James Adams, Police Chief Lester Clark and other officials want to give the one-way plan a 120-day trial period to see if it would work. If it doesn't, they say the system could be ended.

The council, in a 10-2 vote last month, approved a resolution asking the state Highway Commission for a 120-day trial period.

What Happens When teen-agers of 14 different nationalities, who have never met each other, get together? Fun. That's what. The first American Field Service foreign exchange student weekend, which began Friday, at Appleton High School-West is proof of that. Students from throughout the state kicked off the event with a swimming party. Getting to know each other at left, are, from left, Raymond Punzalan, Philippines; Kim McDonald and Mark Wright, New Zealand; Susan Maedke, AHS-West hostess, and Peter Beatty, Australia. At right, Roberto Behar, Argentina, and Neusa Nakatsukasa, Brazil, who are neighbors at Merrill and Wausau, respectively, are already on friendly terms and test their agility on the wet cement. ## Brillion Teacher Reinstated, But Says He'll Resign BRILLION — Frank Boyle, 26-year-old high school English teacher who has been suspended from his duties since Feb. 15, has been reinstated. He will resume duties March 15, but has submitted his resignation effective at the end of the school year.

The announcement, in the form of a joint press release, was given late Friday night, two hours after a planned public hearing on the issue had been canceled. Friday's hearing was to determine "the possible termination of Boyle's contract." Formal charges against the English teacher were to be read.

Boyle had been with the school three weeks when he came under fire "for methods and ideas of teaching." His rumored firing had brought a sit-in demonstration Feb. 12 by students who supported him.

On Feb. 16 Boyle had threatened suit in federal court to retain his position.

Arrive for Meeting
Approximately 200 students, parents, friends of Boyle and interested teachers throughout the state had arrived for the meeting, most expecting a dramatic clash of the two opposing educational philosophies. All were ushered to the high school gymnasium, after waiting outside half an hour beyond the scheduled opening.

The crowd was greeted by civil defense men from Calumet County, wearing protective helmets and carrying nightsticks. Sheriff's deputies also were on hand — one said they were summoned at 6 p.m. "to prevent any trouble" and to check against bomb scares.

Conduct by the authorities included the search of a Madison reporter's wife's purse.

But there was no clash — either of philosophies or from the docile audience, many of whom expressed dissatisfaction that no meeting was held.

Matter Settled
School board officials reported at 9:30 p.m. that "the matter to some extent had been settled" and that the public hearing had been canceled at Boyle's wish.

While the crowd waited in the gym, three separate meetings were held in other school rooms. Attorneys for each side conferred, sending messages from one room to another, while the board conducted its own meeting.

Responding to the explanation that he had been responsible for the meeting's cancellation, Boyle said the public hearing was his prerogative, but added that it been held, "no charges would have been brought against me."

He said he thought the school board did not fire him because members had been informed by lawyers that their charges would not hold. "All I want to do is get back to teaching," he said. "That was my main concern all along."

He indicated that his decision to resign in June, in part stemmed from the fact the school board simply would not award him a contract.

No Comment
School board officials had no comment Friday beyond the paragraph announcements of the meeting's cancellation and Boyle's reinstatement.

Supt. of Schools Gaylord Unbehauen commented this morning, in regard to the charges never given publicly, "If they had no substance, why is it that Boyle will resign?"

He added that he hoped that "both sides had learned something from the incident," but then returned, "no more comment."

Charges reportedly brought against Boyle were:

— "Insubordination in relaying false information to students."

Charges were that he told students grades were not important for college admission; and that he also had told students, "If Unbehauen were that insecure, he (Boyle) didn't want to talk to him."

— "Misinformation to students."

It charges that he misinformed students regarding the administration's reaction to his book selection and that "he was in front of an administration council for three to four hours."

— "Insubordination in failing to follow existing rules and regulations." Charges were that he had held a student meeting which "violated school policies regarding Wednesday evening meetings." It was said the meeting concerned the "inadequacy of the school ation in discrediting other teachers."

Charges were that he discussed a drinking incident with another teacher to students; that he requested students to write an evaluation of his predecessor, and that he had told students of disciplinary action taken against another teacher by the administrative council.

The charges had been submitted by the Brillion Public School Administrative staff.

Kaukauna Seeks Bids For Sewer Projects

KAUKAUNA — The board of public works is seeking bids on approximately 50,700 feet of storm and sanitary sewer and 820 feet of man holes, bids to be received by the city clerk prior to 6:30 p.m. March 15.

Size of the sewer varies from eight to 42 inches. Complete plans and specifications on the project have been prepared by City Engineer Robert Natrop and are available at the clerk's office.

Although aid for construction or planning of manure stacking facilities may be available, there are few engineering guides and work on projects could be delayed, said Rickert.

Four Persons Injured in Three Accidents in City

Four persons were hurt, one seriously enough to be hospitalized, in three traffic accidents Friday in Appleton.

Herman C. Sauer, 59, 118 E. McKinley St., was taken by ambulance, to St. Elizabeth Hospital complaining of neck pain about 8:15 p.m. Police said his car and one operated by Daniel C. Miracle, 24, 1217½ S. Jefferson St., collided at Jefferson and McKinley streets.

Alan J. Laux, 33, 1606 E. Lindbergh St., complained of neck and head injuries, and his passenger, Gerald Baldwin, 51, 220 W. Commercial St., neck pain, after a collision at Badger Avenue and Memorial Drive Friday afternoon. Police said the mishap occurred as Laux collided with Albert M. Larson, 58, route 1, Shuonon, while Larson turned left off Memorial onto Sixth Street.

Counties to Get $1.4 Million Welfare Assistance from State

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin counties will get almost $1.4 million from the state as the result of a Wisconsin Supreme Court decision.

The money had been withheld after a one year residency requirement for welfare recipients was declared unconstitutional in federal court.

"We deem the fact that the legislature not only continued the appropriation for temporary assistance, but increased it, as highly significant of its intent to continue the policy of assisting the local units of government in honoring the temporary assistance claims on advice of Atty. Gen. Robert Warren."

Warren contended the law under which the department had plans and specifications on the legal settlement within the state," wrote Justice Bruce Beilfuss in the decision.

The decision was in favor of 71 other counties in the state had claims totaling about $700,000.

Wilbur Schmidt, secretary of the Department of Health and Social Services, had stopped the temporary assistance claims on the basis of the law.

Warren contended the law under which the department had plans and specifications on the legal settlement within the state," wrote Justice Bruce Beilfuss in the decision.

Cut Costs County $16,000

BY DAVE WEITZ
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

Federal funds to Outagamie County farmers have been sliced by $16,000 from 1970 levels under the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP).

The REAP program replaces the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP). Priorities also have been changed eliminating aid to individual farmers for tilling, streambank improvement, surface drainage, and land smoothing.

Last year $27,653 was allocated to 55 Outagamie County farms to aid in tiling projects. The ACP program provided $20,000 for streambank improvement work on 11 farms, and $21,000 for surface drainage on 40 farms. Some aid came from special State ACP allocations.

Although there are no funds for the projects on an individual basis in 1971, aid still may be obtained for projects conducted jointly by farmers under pooling agreements.

The slices in the program were analyzed recently during a joint meeting of the county board agriculture committee, and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee with Dennis Hohfelder, Department of Natural Resources forester and Vernon Geiger, Soil Conservation Service conservationist.

Last year the ACP program provided $63,580 to Outagamie County farmers. Under the new REAP program funds have been reduced to $47,506.

Federal regulations also require the county to reserve 25 per cent of its funds for use in special projects which may have environmental benefit.

National Priorities
Joe Rickert, county ASCS executive director, indicated pollution abatement project planning and streambank improvement projects may have high priority under the new program.

The county program actually is tailored by a three man panel including Geiger, Hohfelder, and Bert Weyenberg, chairman of the county ASCS committee.

The men have until June 1 to completely outline the county program although sign-up for the projects will start Monday and continue until April 9, said Rickert.

Rickert indicated conservation measures in the area of the Bear Creek Watershed also could receive high priority.

Heart Fund Contributions Total $280

Contributions from the 1971 Heart Fund campaign in Center township have reached $279.70, according to Mrs. Carl Nelson, Route 3, Appleton, who headed the annual Wisconsin Heart Association campaign here.

"This figure represents collections from the residential canvass which was conducted last month," Mrs. Nelson said. Mrs. Nelson said that the money would be turned over to the Wisconsin Heart Association.

The Froehlich bill provides that the bomber would be ineligible for probation, parole or other release.

The measure was the outgrowth of the Aug. 24 bombing of Sterling Hall on the University of Wisconsin Madison campus in which researcher Robert Fassnacht was killed.

Four young men are being sought by the FBI in connection with the bombing.

The Froehlich measure will be heard at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday by the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

Supervisors Expected to OK Jail Bonds

The near-final step in the multi-year battle over construction of new jail facilities is expected to be taken by the Outagamie County Board Tuesday.

Bids on $3.9 million in general obligation bonds will be opened at 1:30 p.m. and sale of the bonds will be submitted for approval later the same afternoon.

If the bonds are approved, as expected, the remaining steps involve the bidding for construction.

Of the $3.9 million, $2.27 million is for the jail building.

The remaining $1.63 million covers courthouse remodeling, repayment of short term notes from past airport projects, the Plamann School addition, highway department office building and off-street parking at the courthouse.

A lively battle can be expected to develop earlier in the day, however, over a proposed complete revamping of county board rules to coincide with the first county executive administration.

The proposed changes are the most sweeping in county board committee structure since the executive committee concept was initiated more than eight years ago.

Competition also is expected to develop to fill the vice chairman's chair on the board. The number two post became vacant with the death of Jerome Hiler.

Interest in Job
Thus far only Supv. Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, has publicly announced his desire for the vice chairmanship. However, he is expected to have competition on the board floor.

Several other supervisors have privately expressed interest in the job and at least three names are expected to be put in nomination besides DeBruin's. Among those mentioned are G. Allen Bubolz, John Schreiter, and Herman Ripp, all of Appleton, and Harold Miller, Town of Grand Chute.

Traditionally, either the board chairman or the vice chairman, is from Kaukauna.

DeLaHunt has indicated he will appoint a successor Tuesday to fill the District 16 supervisory position vacated by Hiler's death. As of Friday, only one person had formally applied for consideration.

Other resolutions on Tuesday's agenda include the proposed agreement for transferring title and operational control of the air traffic control tower at the Outagamie County Airport to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA):

Transfer of $8,000 from the Golden Age Home budget to the county hospital budget for installation of new fire doors.

And, sale of a county-owned lot in the Town of Grand Chute to Steinberg and Robertson Agency Realtors for $2,750.

Can Firms Set Up Recycling in State

MILWAUKEE — Three of the world's largest producers of cans Friday announced the establishment of five can recycling centers in four Wisconsin cities.

The state-wide program was announced by industry leaders at a press conference here in the Pfister Hotel. Industry spokesmen emphasized that the centers will accept all types of cans — steel, tin plate, aluminum and bi-metal.

Industry leaders at the press conference identified the following recycling centers in Wisconsin: Milwaukee — American Can Co., 6000 N. Teutonia Ave., and Continental Can Co., Inc., 4300 N. Port Washington Road; Racine — Continental Can Co., 1901 Chickory Rd.; La Crosse — Continental Can Co., 1501 St. James Street, and Green Bay — National Can Corp., Armour Drive.

The industry officials emphasized at the press conference that the metal conservation program launched by the producers of metal cans is another step by industry toward helping solve both the litter and the overall environmental programs of the state.

The program received the endorsement of Gov. Patrick Lucey and other state officials who joined industry officials at the press conference.

"I commend the Continental, American and National can companies for their innovative steps to recycle valuable resources which we can no longer afford to waste," Gov. Lucey said in his endorsement. "State government and industry must coordinate their efforts and share the responsibility for introducing recycling programs to the marketplace."

Dr. Brooks Becker, head of the Bureau of Solid Waste Disposal in the State Department of Natural Resources, said at the press conference that his department "endorses the advances in recycling technology made by the Continental, American and National can companies. The Department of Natural Resources is willing to coordinate its efforts with these industries to promote recycling in Wisconsin."

Under the program, each of the can companies will donate its services as a collection center for steel, tin plate, aluminum and bi-metal cans. The scrap cans will be segregated, processed, and shipped to various locations for recycling by the primary metals industries.

Local plant managers will be responsible for developing programs to channel proceeds from the sale of the scrap back into appropriate local charitable enterprises. Payments will be made on the basis of $10 per ton for steel, $20 per ton for aluminum, and $200 per ton for all aluminum cans.

The industry officials stressed that all metal cans will be accepted at the centers, including three ing food, soup, beer, soft drink, pet food, paint and all other types of metal containers.

The can companies ask that the cans brought to the recycling centers first have their labels removed, that they be rinsed and flattened, and that the ends be removed, if possible. These simple steps, according to production people at the meeting, will ease the handling of the cans.

The can industry has announced sponsorship of recycling programs in six other states and metropolitan New York.

Participating in the press conference Friday were Wilbur K. Neuman, Chicago, Vice-President and General Manager of the Central Metal Division of Continental Can Company; Patrick Van Keuren, Greenwich, Connecticut, Director of Environmental Services for American Can Company; and Maurice Pigott, Chicago, General Sales Manager, National Can Corporation.

Burglary, Weapon Charges

Menasha Youth Guilty

After deliberating only 15 minutes, a Circuit Court jury late Friday afternoon returned guilty verdicts against a 19-year-old Menasha youth charged with burglary and carrying a concealed weapon.

Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell, who sat during the daylong trial, directed a presentence investigation for Michael Rekowski, 620 Second St.

Rekowski, who had been free on bond, was confined to the Outagamie County jail without bail. No definite sentencing date was set.

Appleton detectives charged that Rekowski, and Frank Kwiatkowski, 19, 925 Plank Road, broke into Orv's Pizzeria, 2703 N. Richmond St., early last Jan. 28. Rekowski, they help arrived, he said. A search of the area failed to disclose the third person the bartender claimed he saw, authorities said.

Besides the beer, detectives said, a torn and folded $20 bill and between $7 and $8 worth of change were missing from inside the restaurant. They found a similar bill on Rekowski, they said, and $7.20 worth of quarters, dimes and nickels.

The defense attorney held that Rekowski was not intoxicated at the time of the purported break-in that he "probably could not form the intent to steal" that night.

Two of Rekowski's friends, who testified for the defense, said the defendant had been drinking heavily prior to the Orv's incident. He drank beer, wine and tequila, one of them said, and "got strange" that night at a party.

"For Protection"
Rekowski carried the weighted chain "for his own protection," the same witness said. He testified he never saw Rekowski use it, though Rekowski had supposedly told him he would "if provoked."

Rekowski's father took the stand and said his son had a drinking problem for the "last two years." His son chose to commit himself to Winnebago State Hospital for treatment of the difficulty after his arrest, Rekowski's father said.

Kwiatkowski, who previously pleaded guilty to the burglary charge, will be sentenced later in Circuit Court. He has posted $1,500 bond. Burglary, a felony, carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison. Carrying a concealed weapon, a misdemeanor, can result in a maximum sentence of one year in the county jail.

Rockets Rally to Defeat Ripon; Kimberly, West Clash Tonight

Neenah Gets First 16 Points of Second Half, Duels Fond du Lac

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — "They're quick, strong and an impressive club," the speaker was Ripon High School Coach Jim Seidl and his subject was the unbeaten Neenah Rockets a few minutes after he had seen them storm back in the second half to upend his Tigers, 75-58, in the Neenah regional — after the latter owned a 2-point edge at half-time.

The state's No. 1 ranked team, now with 20 straight victories to its credit and 22 in a row at home, will meet Fond du Lac, 88-61 conqueror of tiny Montello in Friday's other game, at 7:30 p.m. today for the championship and the berth in the Manitowish sectional that accompanies it.

The Neenah club, which Coach Ron Emerson said wasn't aggressive enough in the first half, turned (pardon the expression) "tiger" in the third period, harassing the visitors with its gluey defense and put 16 straight points on the scoreboard before its foe was able to manage one.

From that 30-28 halftime deficit, the Rockets moved to a 44-30 lead in the first five minutes of the third frame. During that time, the Tigers only had five shots at the basket.

Rebounding Improves
The Neenah rebounding, on the short side in the first half, picked up immeasurably and at one point the victors had six straight tips before the ball ripped the nets. The sticky defense forced the ball handlers into several turnovers resulting in quick baskets.

The Tigers recovered their composure late in the quarter to score seven of the last nine points for a 46-38 tally at its conclusion.

The Rockets reconstructed their lead to 10 points early in the fourth period but Ripon strung together a line of six to reduce the count to 54-50 with 4:22 left in the game.

At that juncture, Rick Matson put in a jump shot and on the play Kyle Wiggs, Ripon's leading rebounder, fouled out. From then on, things started going downhill again for the East Central Conference titlists.

Matson missed the free throw (he didn't make any of his five tries in the game) but a few seconds later he put in a jump shot for a 56-50 score.

Make 11 of Next 12
Later it was 58-52 and 60-54 after which the Twin Cities accounted for 11 of the next 12 points to pad their lead. During that time, Ripon's John Radke (6-5) the rest of its height, also fouled out.

John Pierce tallied a career high of 22 points to pace the Rockets. Bill Schultz and Jim Crist added 16 and Ed Hawley hit 11.

Schultz also was entrusted with the bulk of the rebounding, especially in the second half, because Matson ran into foul difficulty.

Steve Stellmacher, who netted 36 points in the district game last weekend, topped Ripon with 15. His second-half total included only four free throws and but one chance from the floor.

Radke and Henry Hilscher tied for runner-up honors with 11 points apiece.

Doesn't Tell Story
Both Emerson and Seidl agreed that the final score didn't tell the game story.

The Neenah coach noted that Ripon was more aggressive than his club in the first half and outboarded it and when the Rockets did get the ball inside for a shot, it wouldn't drop.

Seidl said he felt bad about the final point spread, especially since his team was representing a new conference, and people just seeing the score in the paper couldn't realize what kind of a game it had been.

The veteran Ripon coach said the Tigers wanted to stop the inside game and "although Matson had a bad game their guards (Hawley and Pierce) cut us to ribbons."

Emerson agreed that Ripon's low zone gave the Rockets the outside shot and "Hawley and Pierce picked us up."

Uphill Battle
Seidl explained that his team didn't have the depth, citing the importance of keeping his big kids (Wiggs and Radke) out of foul trouble, which didn't happen. Wiggs had four very early in the third period while Radke reached that total later in the frame.

"After they made those 16 straight points at the start of

Terrors Top Freedom's Quint, 76-47

Appleton West's Terrors had too much size, firepower and defensive strength for the valiant Freedom Irish Friday night, as they raced to a 76-47 regional basketball tournament-opening victory in the Appleton East gym.

The defending state champions (16-4) meet Kimberly's Papermakers (12-8) at Kimberly tonight in a renewal of one of the Fox Valley's most spirited rivalries. The prize will be the regional championship and a berth in next week's Green Bay sectional.

The Dick Emanuel-coached Terrors and the Jack Wipich-directed Papermakers — both traditionally strong tournament teams — split their Fox Valley Association season series.

The Papermakers won, 67-50, at West, and the Terrors won, 49-47, at Kimberly.

"It will be a battle," exclaimed Emanuel as he contemplated tonight's showdown. "It's really nothing new to have

KIMBERLY — "We're happy," Jack Wipich said succinctly as he hurried to set up a movie projector, "but we don't have too many hours we can wait."

The Kimberly coach, who just minutes before had watched his Papermakers demolish West De Pere's Black Panthers, 92-61, was intent on showing films of previous Kimberly-Appleton West battles to his cagers in preparation for tonight's regional finals.

The Papermakers and Terrors will clash for a berth in the Green Bay sectional at 7:30 p.m. In earlier meetings, Kimberly dumped West on the Appleton school floor, 67-50, but the Terrors turned the tables at Kimberly in the rematch, 49-47, making the "ruber game" a tossup.

End Win Streak
By winning, Kimberly moved its record to 12-8 for the season, while West De Pere finished 17-4.

The convincing defeat shattered a 16-game winning streak for the Bay Conference champions, who had entered the

In roaring to their highest point total of the season, the Papermakers held quarter leads of 22-16, 48-31, and 70-42. West De Pere held the advantage only once, that at 11-10 with about three minutes remaining in the opening stanza.

The Fox Valley Association representatives blended three ingredients as they delighted their home fans — fine shooting, control of the backboards and a pestering, pressure defense. "I was wondering how we'd shoot, especially after we missed some easy layups at the start," Wipich recalled. The Kimberly mentor had little to worry about as his charges fired in 22 of 39 in the first half (56.4 per cent) and finished with 41 for 74 (55.4 per cent).

Praises Reserves
"Our kids hustled and got them on the ropes," Wipich went on, "and our reserves came in and did a good job." All 12 of the Papermakers seeing action in the contest broke into the scoring column.

West De Pere coach Doug Page was miffed by his team's lackluster performance. "We're not that bad and

DENMARK — Both the No. 1 rated small school, Kewaunee (20-1), and Little Chute (17-4) posted easy wins in advancing to the finals of the WIAA regional tournament to be played here tonight, at 8 p.m.

The Mustangs jumped off to a bulging 40-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and coasted to a 93-66 victory over Sevastopol, while the Indians, paced by a 29-point performance by 6-8 junior Dale Koehler, walloped Chilton, 88-48.

The Chuters spotted the Pioneers a 1-0 lead with 7:13 left in the first period, before a rally, sparked by Gary VanHan-del and Steve Mollen, boosted the Mustangs to an 18-1 lead at the 13 mark.

VanHandel, a forward who is averaging 12.3 per game, pumped in seven fielders and added four gratis tosses for an impressive 18-point output in the initial stanza. Little Chute, as a team made 18 field goals in 21 tries for a torrid 86 per cent shooting average from the floor before the first eight minutes had elapsed.

Nine Turnovers
The Pioneers, who yielded a total of nine turnovers going into the second quarter, managed to outscore the Mustangs, 20-13, in the second segment.

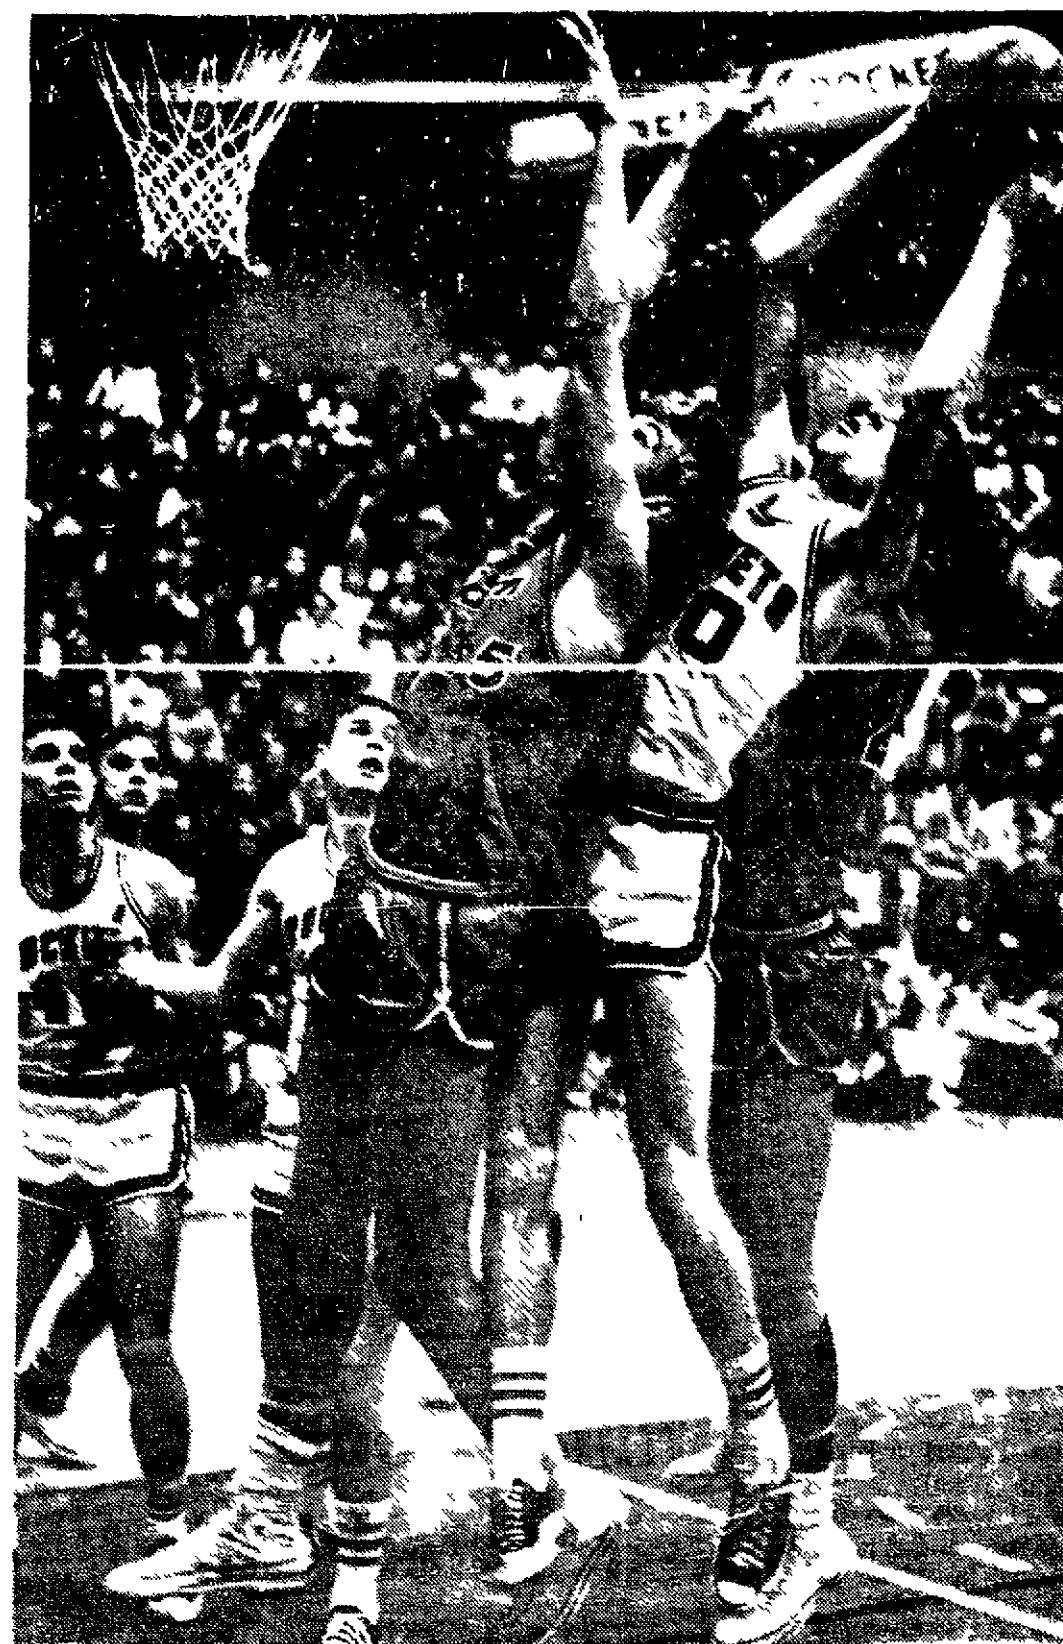

VanHandel, who sat out for a few minutes because of foul trouble finished with 26 for the Chuters, while Mollen, Hackel, and Scott Bevers canned 22, 14, and 12 respectively.

The Mustangs totaled 42 baskets in 72 tries for a net-scoring 58 per cent shooting rate, while the Pioneers flipped in 23 fielders in 48 offerings for an even 50 per cent.

Bucks Set NBA Record

DETROIT (AP) — "We want to win it," said Milwaukee center Lew Alcindor after the Bucks set a National Basketball Association record by beating the Detroit Pistons 108-95, marking their 19th straight victory.

The NBA consecutive win string was 18 games, set last season by the New York Knicks, stopped in their bid for 19 by the Detroit Pistons who failed in a second chance to protect the record.

Alcindor, who led his team with 34 points, added, "We tried not to point to the record but once we got into a position of trying to get it the guys went all out."

"This record pleased me more than any of the others I've ever had," admitted the 7-foot-2 former UCLA superstar. "It was accomplished against the best basketball players in the world," he concluded.

Bing Hits 39
Although Alcindor's 34 points and 11 rebounds were for the winning team, the high-point man for the game was Detroit's outstanding guard Dave Bing, who dumped in 39.

Bing said the turning point of the game came in the third quarter on a loose-ball foul. The only salvation of the night-called on the Pistons. Bill Hewitt took a rebound McGlocklin got a basket and only to be called foul. Greg Smith got two free throws for the Bucks and then Jon Kolff said his team was

UW May Drop Crew, Rumor Says

MADISON (AP) — A University of Wisconsin alumni group made up of former crew members has expressed concern that the sport on the UW intercollegiate program since 1874, may be dropped.

Letters were received in Madison Friday by the group, known as the Wisconsin Crew Corp., noting that the sport may be in danger for budgetary reasons. The letters from President R. E. Mueller of the Crew Corp. urged recipients to muster support for maintaining crew, noting that it was installed as an intercollegiate sport before football on the Madison campus.

UW crew coach John Jablonik said he was aware of no move to abolish the sport. There was no immediate comment from the Athletic department.

Are Eliminated

Madison West rose to the challenge Friday night and shocked fifth-ranked Sun Prairie, 106-87, as the WIAA regional basketball tournaments got underway.

After tonight, only 32 of the 128 schools that started the weekend will be left. Those 32 winners will be paired down to just eight in next week's sectionals, with the eight advancing to the state tournament at Madison March 18-20.

Bob Falk scored 32 points for West, but had to take a backseat to Sun Prairie's Bruce McCauley, who tallied 38. Sun Prairie led, 5-2, but then Madison West forged into the lead and dominated the backboards.

Seven-ranked Janesville Craig and ninth-rated Glendale Nicolet also lost.

Rockets Rally
To Beat Tigers

The second half we fought back but had to fight an uphill battle," the coach went on. He said the third period was one of the poorest quarters his team had played all year.

Emerson paid tribute to the Tigers as a fine team. "They came to play and outthrusted us in the first half," he said.

The successful Rocket coach shuddered when he looked at the free throw shooting chart which showed the locals had only dropped in 13 of 28, including just six of 19 through the first three periods. "If we had made a few of the free throws, we could have put the game out of reach," he commented.

24 of 30 Free Throws

While Neenah was cold from the gratis line, the Tigers kept themselves in contention with their accuracy. They finished with 24 of 30, including a nifty 14 of 15 in the last period.

Unofficial rebounding statistics revealed that the Rockets outboarded, 22-18, in the first half were on the long end of a whopping 35-1 advantage in the second.

The second game wasn't quite the mismatch that had been expected but a good argument for the 2-class system which will go in effect next year.

Montello only had seven players in uniform but scrapped all the way, although down 46-24, at halftime and 70-42, after three periods.

The split tourney attracted a near capacity crowd, or about 3,000, for the Neenah-Ripon game but only 400 for the second session.

Another spurt early in the second stanza provided Clintonville with a 34-18 advantage, and the margin would remain the same until the final stanza when the Clints emptied the bench and Marion closed in.

Clintonville Coach Carl Bruggank wasn't very happy following his team's convincing victory. "We didn't shoot well and there wasn't any movement offensively," the veteran coach observed.

"Marion deserves credit, they stayed in there," he added. "We're going to have to play a lot better tomorrow against Waupaca, they have balance and can be real tough."

The Clints fired 80 shots at the hoop but sank only 30 for 38 per cent. Marion dropped 28 of 69 and held a 47-41 edge off the boards.

and forced the Chargers into several turnovers. This provided the spark the Comets needed to get their game going.

Loose Play

However, Waupaca committed 23 turnovers in the game and Wittenberg - Birnamwood the same number. The Comets fired in 25 of 59 from the floor to the Chargers 18 of 54. Waupaca held a 33-31 rebound advantage.

Mavis, a 6-7 pivot, hauled in 18 rebounds to pace everybody in that phase of the game. However, his inside shooting was off target and the Chargers couldn't compensate from outside.

Craig LeBeau provided much of the firepower, as he rimmed 25 points for Clintonville. The sharp shooting guard hit half of 22 shots from the floor nearly all coming from 20-feet or better.

Mark Heideman chipped in 16 for the Truckers and pulled down 16 rebounds, while John Jartz made 13 retrieves of errant shots.

Marion had a decided height advantage, but didn't capitalize on it as it shot from a perimeter. Mike Daley, a smooth shooting southpaw, dropped nine of 15 from the floor for 18 points. Goodwin Peterson with a late hot streak hit 17 and Kent Brandenburg fired in 16 on corner shots.

Early Lead

It didn't take long for Clintonville to take command of the game. Marion assumed a 4-2 lead, but then the Clints ran eight unanswered points for a 10-4 lead with 4:10 left. Marion managed only four more points the rest of the quarter as the Truckers rolled ahead, 17-8, after a quarter.

Another spurt early in the second stanza provided Clintonville with a 34-18 advantage, and the margin would remain the same until the final stanza when the Clints emptied the bench and Marion closed in.

Clintonville Coach Carl Bruggank wasn't very happy following his team's convincing victory. "We didn't shoot well and there wasn't any movement offensively," the veteran coach observed.

"Marion deserves credit, they stayed in there," he added. "We're going to have to play a lot better tomorrow against Waupaca, they have balance and can be real tough."

The Clints fired 80 shots at the hoop but sank only 30 for 38 per cent. Marion dropped 28 of 69 and held a 47-41 edge off the boards.

The Mustangs weren't able to handle the Clintonville press effectively and committed 16 turnovers — 11 in the decisive first half — to the Truckers' nine.

Premontre Tips Campion

St. Catherine Quint Crushes Lourdes

By BOB GREENE

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Racine St. Catherine put on an awe-inspiring display of power after Madison Edgewood, Milwaukee Pius and Green Bay Premontre squeaked through their quarter-final round games in the WISAA state basketball tournament Friday night.

Edgewood edged Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, 70-65, in overtime. Pius clipped Milwaukee Marquette, 47-46, and Premontre slipped past Prairie du Chien Campion, 55-53, before St.

Catherine bombed Oshkosh jumper with two seconds remaining to boost Premontre to its 55-53 victory. John Nillen's two free throws with 10 seconds left in the game had tied it up at 53-53 for Campion, but DeWolfe sped down the right sidelines and let fly from 25 feet out.

The clock ran out before Campion could get back across the mid-line. St. Catherine's Angels jumped off to a 16-3 advantage in the first period and increased their lead throughout the game, displaying slick ball-handling, deadly outside shooting, a tight defense and domination of the backboards.

12 See Action

Bill Letsch paced the Angels' attack with 17 points while Dave Bulk added 14. St. Catherine's entire squad of 12 saw action with nine of them ending up in the scoring column.

Greg Weisse scored 15 points to lead Lourdes.

Gary DeWolfe's 25 - foot, from the corner hit the back of the rim and bounced off at the buzzer.

Johnson paced the Popes with 20 points while Reggis Harris of Marquette had 21, including 16 in the first half.

Rich Pertzborn's tip in the final second of regulation time failed to drop, but the Edgewood star scored two quick baskets in the extra period to spur the victory.

Pertzborn finished with 21 points, 18 of them coming after the half.

High for Assumption was Peter Brey with 19.

Rookie Might Lead Astros

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Astros have come up with a rookie shortstop, Roger Metzger who Manager Harry Walker thinks may make the Astros a contender in the National League this season.

Never mind that Metzger was caught rounding first base too wide for an out that snuffed out a ninth inning rally as the Boston Red Sox beat the Astros 4-3 Friday in the opening of the major league exhibition baseball season.

"That's something we'll work on," Walker said. "The kid is a good runner, he's intelligent and a hard worker. We'll tell him what he did wrong and he won't make that mistake again. He made some plays in the field and got a hit in the ninth when we needed to keep things going."

In other opening games of the so-called Grapefruit League in Florida, the New York Yankees beat Washington 6-1, Atlanta downed Montreal 4-2 and Pittsburgh shaded the Chicago White Sox 2-1.

In the Cactus League in Arizona, Oakland blanked San Diego 2-0, San Francisco walloped the Chicago Cubs 9-4 and Milwaukee defeated the Tokyo Lotte Orions 6-4.
